A Man Sixty Years Old Attempts to Murder His Wife---He Afterwards Hangs Himself.

Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Commercial.
[By Atlantic and Pacific Line.]

WAYNESBURG, PA., April 15, 1867.

Martin Cane, a man of over sixty years of age, residing near Mount Morris in this county, last night struck his wife, while sleeping, two blows with an axe, and afterwards committed suicide. He was discovered about eleven P. M., hanging to a tree near the house. The doctors say his wife can live but a few hours. J.

HAVE WE A LEGISLATOR?—The Philadelphia Press asks the question, "Have we a legislator among us?" and refers to the fact that the Legislature adjourned without providing a large reward for the murderers of the brothers Zook, in Mississippi. This, it claims, was a national matter, involving the question whether the citizens of Pennsylvania are citizens of the United States; and if so, what the citizenship is practically worth. The defeat of the measure is wholly attributable to the Democratic minority, who objected it off the calendar at the last moment.

WE are glad to see that the Parisian lodging-house and hotel keepers are likely to be disappointed in their purposes to fleece strangers who shall visit the Great Exhibition this spring. They have made extensive preparations for the accommodation of visitors, and have advanced their prices in proportion to the expected demand for accommodations, and perhaps much beyond this. This being pretty generally understood, visitors are properly cautious, and it is thought will make their stay in Paris as short as possible during the coming season, and thus disappoint these greedy publicans.

MEETINGS against Chinese labor continue to be held in San Francisco. The president of one of them said: "One trade (the cigar-making) had been entirely broken up by the Chinese, and now they were invading other branches, and it was impossible to go into a shoe manufactory or tailor shop without finding from one to a dozen of the pig-tail Chinese engaged in some labor which could be better done by some needy white man. I will not censure the ladies, who do a great wrong by employing Chinese servants. They may not know what they have done and are doing to drive the honest working-girls from the kitchen into places that should not be mentioned to ears polite."

"CURCULIO" ON FRUIT TREES.—At a recent meeting of the Farmers' Club of the American Institute, a discussion took place on the best method of destroying curculio on fruit trees, when a gentleman stated that if a hole was bored in the body of the tree, and the hole filled with sulphur, it would so infect the tree that no insect or worm would live upon it. Upon some doubt being expressed as to the efficacy of the "preventative," he said that he had tried the remedy, and he spoke from experience. The chairman remarked that if this be a sure preventative, it was worth millions to the country, and we need never lack a supply of fruit in the future.

R. F. DUGDALE gave an interesting description of the new ærial locomotive apparatus invented by Jean Baptiste Lassie, before the Society for the Advancement of Science and Art. It is claimed by this invention that two great problems of ærial navigation have been solved: that of buoyancy, or the power of ascending and descending at will without loss of the power required for doing it, and horizontal progression. The ship is propelled on the principle of rifled projectiles in ordnance; air, which is pumped in or expelled at pleasure, furnishing the ballast. The buoyant power is gas.

IN an English railway car, a short time since, an individual who persisted in smoking a cigar after he had been requested not to do so, was summarily ejected by the outraged passengers. The aggrieved smoker caused the arrest of one of his assailants, and charged him with assault and battery. The Magistrate, before whom the case was tried, decided that the smoker had given sufficient provocation for the assault, and he was doubtful if he would not be compelled to lock him up for assault and battery in puffing smoke in other people's faces.

CONSIDERING that the Russian treaty was acted upon in executive session, the circumstances of the debate and final vote are leaking out in a surprising manner. It is now stated that ten Senators spoke against the treaty and ten voted to postpone it until December, postponement being regarded by its friends as equivalent to rejection. But at the last only Messrs. Fessenden and Ferry voted against it.

PEOPLE generally do not know that some ladies wear false lips, made of pink india rubber, which are attached to the lips in a manner which defies detection, and which give a pretty pouting appearance to the mouth. There is a way to test lips which may appear doubtful, but may ladies might object to the operation, unless it were performed by very near relatives.

THERE is a probability that Governor Oglesby will convene the Legislature of Illinois in special session in order to pass a law for the taxation of National Bank stock held in that State, in accordance with the recent decision of the United States Supreme Court, rendering null and void the present statute for this purpose.

IRON ROLLING MILL.—The Marietta Register says: The arrangements are about complete for the erection of an Iron Rolling Mill here, this season. It will be located at Mile Run, between the railroad and the Ohio River.

Michael S. Lynch, a man possessed of some property, entered the restaurant of John Sweeney, in Tidioute, Saturday night, 6th inst., and called for oysters, stating that he had no money with him. Mr. Sweeney refused the oysters, when Lynch said he would mark him. Lynch was then ejected from the restaurant when he drew a revolver and, it is alleged, discharged one barrel at Sweeney, the ball striking him in the side and inflicting a serious if not fatal injury. Lynch was arrested, and committed to jail for trial in default of $5000 bail.

Constitutionality of the Late Act.

The Mississippi Injunction Bill Not Received.

Reason---The President Was Made a Party.

The Georgia Bill will be Received.

Special Dispatch to Pittsburgh Commercial.

WASHINGTON, April 15, 1867.

The Mississippi Injunction Case.

The Supreme Court decided the Mississippi injunction case at noon to-day. A number of prominent persons were present, and inside the bar were Charles O'Conner, Judge Black, Caleb Cushing, Montgomery Blair, the Attorney General, General Butler and several Senators. Leave to file the bill was refused, solely upon the ground that the President was made a party. The Court declined to go into any other question. It gave notice it would receive the bill in the Georgia case, as the President is not a party to that case. The Attorney General made no objection. A thorough argument, therefore, may be expected in this case for and against the injunction. The question of jurisdiction and the reconstruction law will both be discussed. In granting a hearing the Court by no means admits that it has jurisdiction of the subject. In the Mississippi case it in effect decided that whether the President was doing wrongly or not, the Court would not interfere with him in the exercise of his duty as an Executive officer. In the Georgia case the counsel understood the Court to hold that there is nothing in the position of the Department Commander to prevent an injunction, if he is acting in an unconstitutional manner, and if the Court has jurisdiction over the subject. A final decision cannot be expected for two weeks. The Court, it is expected, will hold that it has no jurisdiction.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—In the United States Supreme Court to-day, the Chief Justice delivered the opinion of the Court in the case of the State of Mississippi vs. Andrew Johnson and E. O. C. Ord, on motion for leave to file a bill, as follows:

A motion was made some days since in behalf of the State of Mississippi for leave to file a bill in behalf of the State, praying this Court perpetually to enjoin and restrain Andrew Johnson and E. O. C. Ord, commanding in the District of Mississippi and Arkansas, from executing or in any manner carrying out certain acts of Congress. The acts referred to are those of March 2d and March 22d, 1867, commonly known as the reconstruction acts.

The Attorney General objected to the leave asked, upon the grounds that no bill which makes the President a defendant, and seeks an injunction against him to restrain the performance of his duties, should be allowed to be filed in this Court. This point has been fully argued, and we will now dispose of it. We shall limit our inquiry to the question presented by the objection, without expending an opinion on the broader issues discussed in the argument, whether in any case the President of the United States may be required by process of this Court, to perform a purely ministerial act required by law, or may be held amenable in any case otherwise than by impeachment for crime. The single point which requires consideration is this: Can the President be restrained from carrying out an act of Congress alleged to be unconstitutional? It is assumed by counsel for the State of Mississippi that the President, in the execution of the reconstruction acts, is required to perform a mere ministerial duty. In this assumption is, we think, a compounding of the terms ministerial and executive, which are by no means equivalent in import. A ministerial duty, the performance of which may in proper cases be required by the head of a department by judicial process, is one in respect to which nothing is left to discretion. It is a simple, definite duty, arising under conditions admitted or proved to exist or imposed by law.

The case of Marbury versus Madison, Secretary of State, [First Cranch, 137,] furnishes an illustration. A citizen had been nominated, confirmed and appointed a Justice of the Peace for the District of Columbia, and his commission had been made out and sealed. Nothing remained to be done except delivery, and the duty of delivery was imposed by law on the Secretary of State. It was held that the performance of this duty might be enforced by mandamus issuing from the Court having jurisdiction. So in the case of Kendall, Postmaster General, vs. Stockton & Stokes [12 Peters, 527.] An act of Congress had directed the Postmaster General to credit Stockton Stoke with such sums as the Solicitor of the Treasury should find due them, and that officer refused to credit them with sums so found due. It was held that the crediting of the money was a mere ministerial duty, the performance of which might be enforced. In each of these cases nothing was left to discretion. There was no room for t e exercise of judgment. Law required the performance of a single specific act, and that performance, it was held, might be required by mandamus.

Very different is the duty of the President in the exercise of the power to see that the laws are faithfully executed, and among those laws the acts named in the bill. By the first of these acts he is required to assign Generals to command in the several military districts, and to detail a sufficient military force to enable such officers to discharge their duties under the laws. By the supplementary act, other duties are imposed on the several commanding Generals, and their duties must necessarily be performed under the supervision of the President as Commander-in-chief. The duty thus imposed on the President is in no just sense ministerial; it is purely executive and political. An attempt on the part of the Judicial department of the Government to enjoin the performance of such duties by the President might be justly characterized in the language of Chief Justice Marshall as an absurd and excessive extravagance.

It is true that in the instance before us, the interposition of the court is not sought to enforce action by the Executive under constitutional legislation, but to restrain such action under legislation alleged to be unconstitutional. But we are unable to perceive that this circumstance takes the case out of the general principle which forbids judicial interference with the exercise of Executive discretion. It was admitted in the argument that the application now made to us is without precedent, and this is of much weight against it. Had it been supposed at the bar that this court would have in any case interpose to advert the execution of an unconstitutional act of Congress, it can hardly be doubted that an application with that object would have been heretofore addressed to it. Such occasions have been frequent. The constitutionality of the act for the annexation of Texas was vehemently denied. It made important and permanent changes in the relative importance of States and sections, and was by many supposed to be pregnant with disastrous results to large interests in particular States; but no one seems to have thought of an application for an injunction against the execution of the act by the President. It is difficult to perceive upon what principles the application now before us can be allowed, and similar applications in that and other cases could have been denied. The fact that no such application was ever before made in any case indicates the general judgment of the profession that no such application should be entertained.

It will hardly be contended that Congress can interpose in any case to restrain the enactment of an unconstitutional law, and yet how can the right to judicial interposition to prevert such an enactment, when the purpose is evident and the execution of the purpose certain, be distinguished in principle from the right to such interposition against the execution of such a law by the President? Congress is the legislative department of government, the President is the executive department. Neither can be restrained in its action by the Judicial department, though the acts of both, when performed, are in proper cases subject to its cognizance. The impropriety of such interference will be clearly seen upon consideration of its probable consequences.

Suppose the bill filed and injunction prayed for be allowed; if the President refuse obedience, it is needless to observe that the Court is without power to enforce its process. If, on the other hand, the President complies with the order of the Court and refuse to execute the act of Congress, is it not clear that a collision may occur between the executive and legislative departments of the Government? May not the House of Representatives impeach the President for such refusal, and in that case could this Court interpose in behalf of the President, thus endangered by compliance with its mandate, and restrain by injunction the Senate of the United States from sitting as a court of impeachment? Would the strange spectacle be offered to public wonder of an attempt by this Court to arrest proceedings in that Court? These questions answer themselves.

It is true a State may file an original bill in this Court, and it may be true in some cases that such bill may be filed against the United States; but we are fully satisfied that this Court has no jurisdiction of a bill to enjoin the President on the performance of his official duties, and that no such bill ought to be received by us. It has been suggested that the bill contains a prayer that if the relief sought cannot be had against Andrew Johnson as President, it may be granted against Andrew Johnson as a citizen of Tennessee; but it is plain that relief against the execution of an act of Congress by Andrew Johnson or relief against its injunction against the execution of an act of Congress by the incumbent of the Presidential office, cannot be received, whether it describes him as President, or simply as a citizen of a State. The motion for leave to file a bill is therefore denied.

The opinion having been delivered, the Chief Justice announced that the Court would not set on next Friday, it being Good Friday, and Thursday would be substituted as motion day. He also added: In the case of the State of Georgia against certain officers, the Attorney General makes no objection to filing the bill, and we will therefore grant leave to file that bill.

Mr. Sharkey—If the court please, the objection to the bill which I attempted to file seems to be that it is an attempt to enjoin the President. The bill is not filed, and I can reform it to suit the views of the court and present it again.

Chief Justice—Leave to file the bill is refused. When another bill is presented, it will be considered.

Mr. Sharkey—Do I understand the court to say application can be made on Thursday?

The Chief Justice—On Thursday.

THE Israelite, published in Cincinnati, says: "We need no personal Messiah. What benefit could we expect from any Messiah? We do not wish to go back to Palestine, or to submit to any king. What good can we expect from a son of David? We are the children of the house; we go to no steward, need no guardian, require no mediator, and ask none to plead our cause with our Heavenly Father. We are of Israel."

ATTORNEY GENERAL STANBERY in his address before the Supreme Court said he was directed to say that the President's opposition to the Military Reconstruction Bill ceased when he had vetoed it. Now that it had become a law in a constitutional manner, he regarded it as his duty to see it faithfully executed.

THE Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette charges that "Simon Cameron aspires to further political advancement, and to secure it has not hesitated to join hands with Buckalew, Randall and Cowan. So far as the influences of the offices in the close districts can do it, the State has been given to the fusion of Democrats and conservative Republicans."

WASHINGTON, April 15, 1867.

Nominations Made Yesterday.

The President's Secretary took to the Senate to-day nominations to fill every vacancy, provided they are confirmed, now existing in the civil and military offices. It was estimated that more than half would be rejected. The most prominent nomination made was that of Gen. Frank J. Herron as United States Marshal for Louisiana.

Ordered to Duty.

Gen. Rousseau, confirmed last week Brigadier in the regular army, has been ordered to Fort Vancouver, Washington Territory, to relieve Gen. Steele.

The Massachusetts Liquor Cases.

The Supreme Court will take up to-morrow or Wednesday the Massachusetts liquor cases, wherein some 5,000 persons are interested. The question at issue is the protection which the internal revenue tax of two dollars per gallon affords to the tax payer, where his business is prohibited by State or municipal law.

The Austrian Mission.

The Senate Committee on Foreign Relations are disposed to recommend the confirmation of Mr. Raymond as Minister to Austria, provided it be established that Mr. Motley persists in his resignation. It is stated on one hand that he desires to hold on, and is contradicted on the other.

The Agricultural Commissionership.

The Senate spent two hours to-day in discussing the nomination of S. L. Capron, of Illinois, as Commissioner of Agriculture, and postponed it until December next. The opinion was expressed in the debate that the agricultural societies throughout the country should unite on a good man for that place, and that the President should nominate the one agreed on. There was a decided majority in favor of displacing the present incumbent.

Virginia State Convention.

The Virginia State Convention, the first one to be held since the passage of the Reconstruction act, meets on Wednesday to nominate State officers.

The Cincinnati Appointments.

The usual nomination for Cincinnati postmaster was sent to the Senate to-day in the person of Col. W. H. Taylor, heretofore twice rejected. He will be rejected to-morrow. The President has then decided to send in John F. Wiltzie or Col. Jos. S. Wise. The latter was endorsed to-day by all of the ex-officers of the Army of the Cumberland now in Washington. All efforts to secure the appointment of Capt. John Sebastian have failed. The President peremptorily declines to nominate him. The name of Alexander Reed as postmaster at Toledo was sent to the Senate to-day. He is a brother of the two Cincinnati, editors of that name, and his confirmation was earnestly opposed by the Toledo politicians.

Consul to Panama.

General Kirby Smith was, to-day, confirmed as Consul to Panama, but he intends to decline the position inasmuch as he did not seek it.

Consul to Havana.

The President appointed Gideon H. Hollister, of Connecticut, Consul General to Havana, Vice Miner, resigned. The salary is six thousand dollars a year, in gold.

Public Land Sales.

The Commissioner of the General Land Office has received returns showing that two hundred and thirteen farms, comprising in the aggregate 13,694 acres, were added to the productive force of Arkansas under the act of June 21st, 1866, providing for the disposal of public lands for homestead actual settlement in the States of Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas and Florida.

Death of Lincoln.

To-day being the anniversary of the death of President Lincoln, several buildings were draped in mourning, and the flags on all the public buildings, at Gen. Grant's Headquarters, Headquarters Department of Washington, hotels, and many other places throughout the city, were at half mast during the day.

WASHINGTON, April 15, 1867.

ABSENCE OF TERRITORIAL OFFICERS.

The President sent a message to the Senate, enclosing communications from the Secretary of the Interior, Attorney General and Secretary of State. The former has no information on the subject of the absence of Territorial officers from their posts. The others say such absences have invariably been under leave previously granted, except in the last leave of Alexander Cummings, which was applied for by telegraph from Denver, and granted after he reached Washington. The public necessity for such leaves of absence is stated in tables submitted. No part of the expense has been charged to the Government.

THE MISSISSIPPI CASE.

The Supreme Court, to-day, refused to entertain the Mississippi bill against the President, but allowed the Georgia bill to be filed, as the objection did not apply.

SECRETARY SEWARD THANKED.

The Austrian Minister, Count Wydenbruck, has warmly thanked the Secretary of State, for the kindness and promptness with which he acted in the request of the Austrian Emperor, relative to Maximilian.

THE SENATE.

Without transacting any public business, the Senate went into Executive session.

KANSAS INDIANS.

The Senate Committee on Indian Affairs will, after the present session, visit the territory west of Kansas with a view of selecting the location of the Indians of that State, and their prompt removal thither. They expect to leave Lawrence about the 20th of May. This act is in accordance with a resolution adopted by the Senate.

CONFIRMATIONS.

The Senate confirmed the following nominations: Postmasters—Lewis Lambright, Middleton, Ohio; Jno. P. Thomas, Independence, Missouri; Moses Evans, Waukegan, Illinois; R. M. Lewis, Fond du Lac, Wisconsin.

The Senate rejected the following: Collectors of Internal Revenue—William P. Moore, Third Distaict, Missouri; Allen P. Richardson, Fifth District, Missouri. Postmasters—Abner P. Durbin, Lyons, Iowa; Moses H. Kirby, Upper Sandusky, Ohio; Norman K. Brown, Van Wert, Ohio; Lemuel Jeffreys, Wooster, Ohio. Pension Agents—Thomas A. Smith, Macon City, Missouri.

ON WAITING ORDERS.

Captain Edward Lamore haa been detached from ordinance duty at Jefferson barracks, Missouri, and placed on waiting orders.

PACIFIC RAILROAD.

The Secretary of the Interior has received from the President of the Union Pacific Railroad, Eastern Division, an affidavit alleging the completion of the seventh section of twenty-four miles of that road, and the Government commissioners have been instructed to examine and report on the same.

Thos. Kilby Smith, confirmed last week to Panama, but the day after reconsidered, to-day was again confirmed.

COMMISSIONER OF AGRICULTURE.

It is understood the Senate postponed the nomination of Colonel Capron as Commissioner of Agriculture until next December. The friends of the present incumbent, Isaac Newton, say he will then be prepared to resign.

ANNIVERSARY.

This being the anniversary of the death of President Lincoln, the depot of equipment and clothing were draped in mourning and flags displayed at half mast. The flags on all the public buildings, General Grant's headquarters, Headquarters of the Department of Washington, and many other places throughout the city were at half mast during the day.

A SUPREME CASE RULE.

A rule of the Supreme Court reads as follows: Process issued out of this Court in any suit in equity shall be served on defendant sixty days before the return of said process. To-day the Court ordered subpœnas to be issued against the defendants in the Georgia bill of complaint case as prayed for by the petitioners. The Court will adjourn in May, and as the sixty days required by the rule cannot occur between now and that time, the return day must necessarily be at the next regular term of Court in December. Further proceedings in the case, according to this interpretation of this rule by legal gentlemen, will therefore be postponed until that time.

NOMINATED.

General Frank J. Herron is nominated for Marshal of Louisiana, and Gideon Hollister, of Connecticut, for Consul to Havana.

Bismarck's Speech on Napoleon's Negotiation for Luxemburg.

France and Prussia from the English Stand Point.

MOVING TOWARDS WAR.

Count Bismarck's Speech on Napoleon's Negotiations for Luxemburg.

In the session of the North German Parliament, April 1, Herr von Bennigsen rose to question the government relative to the rumored cession of the Grand Duchy of Luxemburg to France. Count Bismarck having previously announced his readiness to give an immediate reply to the interpellation.

Herr Bennigsen said: A disquieting rumor is current that Germany is to lose Luxemburg, a birthplace of German princes, and Parliament wishes to learn what attitude the governments of the Confederation intend to adopt in the matter. The question is here of a Federal German fortress and of a German frontier territory, with an essentially German population which never dreamed of wishing to become French. The speaker then read a letter from Luxemburg, which was described as a cry of distress to the Parliament, and in which it was asserted that out of two hundred thousand inhabitants there were not two hundred whose language was other than German. Herr Von Bennigsen then continued as follows: Before this question all party differences disappear. When the integrity of Germany is threatened all parties will unite and support the Minister President against foreign Powers to the utmost. We wish for peace, but will not shrink from war if it be necessary to repel the very first attempt of France to attack our honor. Let us give a speedy and resolute answer to the warlike tendencies of France, and we shall stifle them in the bud; to be silent would be weakness. The promise given by the King that not even a German village shall be lost is preserved by the people in grateful remembrance. Let him call upon them, and he will find that they are one. The work of the new constitution can be concluded within a few days if foreign intervention threatens. We do not seek war, and if it breaks out let France be answerable. The German and the French nations could live side by side in peace and prosperity, whereas war would inflict deep wounds; but if France attempts to hinder the work of our reconstruction we will show her that Germany is united.

Count Bismarck in reply said: By the dissolution of the old Confederation the King of Holland acquired full sovereign rights over Luxemburg. There prevails in the Grand Duchy a disinclination to enter the North German Confederacy on account of the military burdens that step would entail. In the higher and highest circles a bad feeling is entertained with regard to the victories of Prussia, and in a dispatch addressed to the Prussian government last October, Holland demanded the evacuation of the fortress of Luxemburg. The government, not wishing to have foreign Princes in the Northern Confederation, has not put any pressure upon the Netherlands. Prussia values amicable relations with France, and has respected her susceptibilities so far as was consistent with her own honor. The Prussian government does not adopt the opinion that an arrangement has been entered into between Holland and France; but cannot, on the other hand, assert that the contrary is the case. The question was first officially brought forward by a communication made by the King of Holland to the Prussian Ambassador, asking what position Prussia would take up in case his Majesty should in any way cede his sovereign rights over the Duchy. In reply, Prusssia declared that she would leave the responsibility of such a step to the King of Holland. So far as Prussia is concerned there is no reason to make any declaration on the subject. Prussia will assure herself of the views entertained by the Powers which signed with her the treaty of 1839 and by her federal allies, as well as of the state of public opinion as represented by the North German Parliament. Holland has offered her good offices to further negotiations between France and Prussia, but they have been declined. Count Bismarck went on to declare that he was prevented from giving any further explanations by the nature of the affair, and concluded as follows: The North German federal governments believe that no foreign Power will endanger the undoubted rights of Germany, and they hope to protect these rights more safely by peaceful means, and preserve good relations with foreign Powers the more the debates in Parliament shall show the indissoluble ties that exist between the government and the people.

FRANCE AND PRUSSIA.

Englishmen.

The London Times, in a review of the pamphlet by Due d' Aumale, on the war power of France, indulges in some interesting suggestions on the present relations between France and Prussia. We quote:

The question at issue is whether France is or is not sufficiently armed. The Duc d'Aumale believes that France is "not so utterly destitute of military institutions as it is now the fashion to represent her," and he strives to prove it. All that is required is a preservation or a restoration of their compactness and efficiency, and, if any change is contemplated, it should aim at giving them a strong national development, and grounding them on truly liberal principles.

It is certainly a critical moment for France. The unity of Germany is accomplished, and the whole French nation is made to share the "pang" with which, according to M. Rouher, the imperial government received the tidings of the catastrophe of Sadowa. Germany is one—so far as France, so far as all the rest of the world is concerned. Why the welfare of a neighboring nation should be looked upon as a calamity by the French, we may profess ourselves at a loss to perceive; but, what may be clearly seen is, that either France must put up with the alleged evil as past cure, or that she must set to work for an immediate remedy, or, finally, that she must prepare to grapple with it at some future opportunity. She may make friends with Prussia, she may go to war with her at once, or she may employ several years in adding to those forces which she now seems to consider inadequate to the task.

Senseless as it may appear to us the notion that the growth of Prussia has "taken an inch or so from the stature of France" visibly gains ground in that country, a contingency in which the Minister of State thought it became a necessity to "draw the sword." As, however, Germany certainly harbors no hostile designs it is evident that the choice of a proper time for a declaration of hostilities lies with the French Emperor, and he has too long reckoned the odds of the conflict not to be aware of its magnitude, or to apprehend its certain issue. The relative position of the two great military powers has not materially changed since Nikolsburg, or, at any rate, the change has not been to the advantage of France. Whatever the real mind of the Emperor may be on the subject, he evidently deems it expedient to divert his people's thoughts from a present out-break by his projected preparations for future hostilities. 1,200,000 Frenchmen will be arrayed against Prussia at the end of seven years; but the Emperor, in all his transactions, is apt to make sufficient allowance for the work of time. Before the year 1874, he probably calculates, the irritation of the French against the Prussians will have had leisure to cool, and the sword, which is now being sharpened against them may eventually be drawn in alliance with them.

Such, in a few words, was the military system in France, and the Duc d'Aumale thinks that all sweeping measures such as were found necessary and yet proved inefficient under the First Empire, should not without the most irresistible necessity be adopted by the second. In order to save France under the First Napoleon it would have been much better to prevent that Emperor from rushing to his doom at Madrid and Moscow than to attempt to make up for Spanish and Russian losses by sending nearly a million of raw recruits into the field. "Freedom," the Duke concludes, "doubles the strength of military institutions, directs and moderates their use. It has nothing to fear from them so long as people stand up for their own rights. Its security lies in the force of public opinion, not in the weakness of military establishment." It cannot be expected that the present ruler of France will recognize the correctness of such views. Charles X., the Emperor believes, fell because he had not sufficient military force within reach; Louis Phillipe lost his throne because he had not the heart to use the force he had at hand. As for himself he knew full well that it was by grapeshot that he "saved society," or, in other words, secured supreme power, and all his policy has been invariably directed to constitute the army into a means of popular expression. "The strength of a government," he might say, with more truth than he said it of the influence of a nation, "depends on the number of men it can bring into the field." It is on that as on many other grounds that we look upon his bill for the reorganization of the army as an error. His power at home and abroad is based upon an army; an "armed nation" will prove to be a two-edged tool not to be handled without great difficulty and danger either for home or foreign purposes.

As to foreign affairs it is clear that this vast armament of France has merely been suggested by a misapprehension of the causes that led to the sudden and general collapse of the Austrian power. Because Austria broke down so miserably after a seven days' experiment the Emperor Napoleon exhibited mistrust of his existing military institutions, and wished to modify them by an approach to the victorious Prussian system. Both systems, however, can hardly be kept up together with any hope of satisfactory results. The Prussian system was purely defensive; as such it had existed for fifty years before it was put to the test, and then it was only for a short time and limited campaign. The defeat of the Austrians, as the Duc d'Aumale observes, was owing to a variety of causes, not a few of which must be referred rather to their own weakness than to any overwhelming strength of their adversaries. The Prussians themselves seemed aware of the shortcomings of their own organization, and of its unfitness for offensive purposes, and did not venture to bring their forces into the field without important alterations, the principal of which consisted in prolonging the regular service from 2 to 3 years. That the French Emperor has no great faith in a mere militia is evident, from his reluctance to reduce the service of his regular troops to less than five years. But the question is not as to any improvement in the French standing army, for, such as it is, it fears no comparison with the most thoroughly trained troops in Europe. The question is to what extent it is practicable to muster behind the 400,000 men of the present regular establishment a second line of reserve and a third of Garde Nationale Mobile that may constitute any real addition to the already disproportionate military power of France. If reserve men and National Guard men are to be made into real soldiers; if France must needs take the field with from 1,200,000 to 1,500,000 men; if, as M. Jules Favre said, the whole country is to be turned into parade ground and barracks, Germany will in the end have little to fear from French hostility. Financial distress and the paralysis of all social and industrial life will suffice to render France powerless for attack, perhaps even for defense. A contest between France and Germany at this moment might be a terrible but a doubtful trial. But at the end of seven years, if the present imperial scheme is persevered in, the very possibility of a conflict would be removed, for France would find the peace of the Second Empire more exhausting than the ruthless wars of the First, and we should have in 1874 the prostration of 1814.

Commercial Anxiety in Paris.

[Paris (April 1) Correspondence of London Times.]

Trade in Paris, and generally throughout France, is far from active. Disquiet and the apprehension of further political complications suffice to account for the stagnation. People are unwilling to embark in any undertaking of importance, because they look with doubt and misgiving on the future. Among the upper commercial classes the belief is that an alliance between Prussia and Russia, spoken of vaguely for some months past, is as certain as the alliance of Prussia with Bavaria, the Grand Duchy of Baden and Wurtemburg; in fact, that France has before her what is termed a "tacit coalition." In such circumstances it is not surprising that French capitalists, never remarkable for great boldness, should be cautious and timid.

Excitement in Luxemburg.

A telegram from Luxemburg of March 30th says:

"The current rumors of the cession of the grand duchy of Luxemburg to France are officially declared to be devoid of foundation. Numerous handbills are being circulated here, headed, 'Vive Napoleon,' 'Vive La France,' and instigating the inhabitants to acts of violence against the Prussians. Four regiments of troops belonging to the garrison, composed of Nassauers, have revolted. The Governor has been compelled to make the most serious representations on the subject to the civil authorities of the town.

PRUSSIAN PRECAUTIONS.

[Berlin (March 30) Correspondence of the London Times.]

While cautiously trying to put off the day when a final and definite answer will have to be returned to the French proposals respecting the cession of Luxemburg, Prussia has thought it as well to protect the coveted prize against a coup de main. Orders have been sent to Luxemburg to prepare the casemates for the reception of troops. The posts in the advanced works have been reinforced and provided with drummers and trumpeters. A strong detachment has been told off for work in the fortress arsenal, and all the smithies in the town have received pressing orders from the cammandant. Some persons, who manifested their French sympathies in the public thoroughfares by cries of "Vive la France!" "Vive Napoleon III!" were arrested by Prussian patrols.

In the meantime, the language of the Berlin Government papers continues as ambiguous as ever, and it is impossible to tell whether the measures above specified are merely intended to prevent the French from bringing pending negotiations to a forcible and premature end, or whether they are destined to usher in the adoption by this Government, of a resolute and truly national policy.

No Distinction of Color.

The following is the act passed by the Legislature of this State, at its recent session, making it an offense for railroad corporations within this Commonwealth to make any distinction with their passengers on account of race or color, and punishing said corporations and their agents and employees for the commission of such offense:

SECTION 1. Be it further enacted, &c., That on and after the passage of this act, any railroad or railway corporation within this Commonwealth, that shall exclude, or allow to be excluded by their agents, conductors, or employees, from any of their passenger cars, any person or persons on account of color or race, or that shall refuse to carry in any of their cars thus set apart, any person or persons on account of color or race, or that shall for such reasons compel or attempt to compel any person or persons to occupy any particular part of any of their cars set apart for the accommodation of people as passengers, shall be liable to an action of debt to the person injured or aggrieved, in the sum of five hundred dollars, the same to be recovered in an action of debt as like amounts are now by law recovered.

SEC. 2. That any agent, conductor, or employee of any railroad or railway corporation within this Commonwealth, who shall exclude, allow to be excluded, or assist in the exclusion from any of their cars set apart for the accommodation of passengers, any person or persons, on account of color or race, or who shall refuse to carry such person or persons on account of color or race, or who shall throw any car or cars from the track, thereby preventing persons from riding, shall be deemed guilty of a midemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall pay a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars nor less than one hundred dollars, or be imprisoned for a term not exceeding three months nor less than thirty days, or both, at the discretion of the court.

A Plan for Settling Labor Conflicts.

The continued difficulties in England between masters and workmen (to adopt the terms used there) have given rise to a bill, which has already passed the House of Lords, and which, if it should prove successful, may possibly be copied to some degree in our own legislation. The bill provides for the formation, on petition, of a "council of conciliation and arbitration," to whose decisions the same legal effect will be given as is now given to arbitrators or referees. The council is to consist of not less than two masters, and two workmen, nor more than ten of each kind, and chairman, all being of the same trade, and the chairman chosen by the council. They shall have power to hear and determine all questions of dispute and differences between masters and workmen, and any award the councils may make shall be final and conclusive. The same proceedings of distress, sale and imprisonment as are provided by existing acts of Parliament shall be had toward enforcing every such award (by application to a justice of the Peace) but nothing in the act contained shall authorize the council to establish a rate of wages or price of labor or workmanship at which the workmen shall in future be paid.

A committee of the council shall be appointed, consisting of one master and one workman, who shall first endeavor to reconcile the parties in difference, but in case of their failure, the matter in dispute shall go to the council to be contested in regular course. No lawyers are to be allowed to attend on any hearing. The masters are to appoint their own portion of the council and the workmen theirs. The act is not to be construed to exted to domestic servants or to farm laborers, and is to take effect on the 2d of July, 1867.

THE Herald says that now Spain has got into trouble with England, an exchange of our monitor Miantonomah, now off Leghorn, for the Island of Cuba, would be a fair transaction. If anybody else, it remarks, has real estate to dispose of on the same terms, we can accommodate all comers.

LATE NEWS ITEMS.

A Philadelphia special of yesterday says: A man named Lewis Linder, stopped the carriage of Mrs. Major General George Cadwallader, in Chestnut street yesterday. He said he could not go to church in Sunday cars, and he would not allow any one to ride there in a carriage. He was arrested and held to keep the peace.

The New York Herald's correspondent at Honolulu, Sandwich Islands, writes that Admiral Thatcher, United States Navy, has been decorated by the King with the order of Kamehameha First. There had been a meeting held to erect a monument to Captain Cook. The Chamber of Commerce of Honolulu was agitating the question of a reciprocity treaty between the Islands and the United States. From the statistics of 1866 it appeared that the exports from the United States were larger than those from any other country. General Morgan Smith, the new American Consul, had arrived at Honolulu.

The New York Times' special says: Advices received here from Louisiana, state that General Sheridan has, by the effect of his recent orders, absolutely tied the hands of the civil authorities, so that Governor Wells, who under the constitution has power to make removals and appointments in certain offices, can do nothing without first obtaining his consent. The old police force are retained, but are more respectful toward Union men and freedmen than before. Colonel Thomas Adams Monroe, Chief of Police, is continued in that office, although an effort is being made to secure his removal, and the appointment of General Sypher, formerly Colonel of a colored regiment, in his place. Prominent radicals in New Orleans will soon petition Sheridan to allow Wells to make removals, and thereby flank all attempts on the part of the ex-rebels to prevent them by influence at Washington.

It is said that the Commission to examine League Island have reported unanimously in favor of that place as a navy yard and depot for iron clads, and the work upon it will soon be commenced. It is presumed that this navy yard will add one hundred thousand to the population of Philadelphia.

IMPORTANT DECISION.

In the Supreme Court, in the case of the Peterhoff, her tackle, &c., Appleton vs. the United States, Chief Justice Chase read the opinion of the Court, holding that there could be no legal blockade of the Rio Grande, that river being in part neutral, and ordering the restoration of the ship and all her cargo except that which was contraband of war, and that which belonged to owners of the contraband portions. The Court say that trade between Matamoras and London, even with the intention of supplying Texas from the former place, cannot be declared unlawful for the reason that general principles of international law lead to the conclusion that neutral trade from neutral to blockaded ports by inland navigation is law, nor say the Court, will it be inferred that a blockade of the Rio Grande was intended. It was not so expressly declared, that river was as much Mexican as American.

BY FOREIGN MAILS.

The Luxemburg Question---Comments of the Press---The Russian Cession Treaty in the British House of Lords---Two Victories for the Christians in Crete---Religion and Property of Musselmen to be Respected.

NEW YORK, April 15.—The steamer Allemania, from Southampton on the 3d, has arrived.

The official North German Gazette of the 2d, in an article referring to the eventuality of war between France and Prussia, on the Luxemburg question, says: Luxemburg would by no means compensate for the sacrifices which would be entailed by war. Even if victorious, France would only once more evoke the former and now happily extinguished enmity. France should well consider the question on all sides before she attacks a people defending its natural integrity. War would also certainly place in question that domestic stability which the French Government has striven to achieve.

The Moniteur Du Soir speaks of Bennigsen's questions as leaving on the whole a favorable impression, although several of his assertions might be seriously disputed. He has plainly admitted how desirable is the maintenance of relations of cordiality between the German and the French nations, and how disastrous would be a war between the two countries. The Moniteur adds: Count Bismarck pointed out in dignified language the necessity that Germany should take no just susceptibilities of France into account, and also made several important declarations. He admitted that Luxemburg was an independent State, of which the King of Holland could dispose in the exercise of his sovereign rights, and upon his own responsibility. He did not attempt to contest the undeniable fact that the inhabitants of the Duchy of Luxemburg experienced strong repugnance to be incorporated with Germany, and he insisted lastly upon the influence which the desire of maintaining pacific and friendly relations with its powerful neighbor must exercise upon the policy of the Prussian Government.

In the British House of Lords, in answer to Earl Clarendon, the Duke of Buckingham said: Within the last two hours a communication has been received from St. Petersburgh, confirming the impression that negotiations had been entered upon with the United States for the cession of Russian America. The authorities at St. Petersburg had not heard the question. This is no doubt likely to cause great feeling, and even considerable excitement, but, I trust it will not be allowed in the minds of Englishmen to have any undue weight. I cannot myself think that the cession or purchase, if it so be, of the territory in question is likely to have any such overwhelming influence upon the progress of the colonies sprung from our blood, who have been established on the other side of the Atlantic as at first sight may be imagined.

CORFU, March 31.—Intelligence received here from Greek sources states that two fresh encounters have taken place in Crete, resulting in favor of the Christians. The Cretan Assembly had decreed political equality, and respect for the religion and property of Musselmen.

VIRGINIA FREEDMEN.

Anniversary of Lincoln's Death---Immense Meetings of Freedmen in Richmond.

RICHMOND, Va., April 15.—The negroes commemorated the anniversary of Lincoln's death to-day. Two thousand met at the grove in the edge of the city, and were addressed by two white and several colored speakers. One of the whites made a radical speech, cautioning them to beware of the political designs of the whites, and insist on equality before the laws and in the schools. One colored speaker made a conservative speech. He was raised at the South. These were his people, and he wanted to be at peace with them.

To-night the theater was densely crowded to hear addresses by R. T. Daniel, City Attorney, Wm. H. McFarland, President of Council, and Marmaduke Johnson, the eminent lawyer, who delivered speehes by invitation to the colored people. Solon Robinson, colored, presided. All the speakers gave them advice as to their new relations, and advised them not to be led to suspect the friendly intentions of the white citizens of the South by the designing men who were forming them into secret societies for political purposes. Outside a large crowd of negroes were standing dissuading others from going inside. During the speeches, when the question of peace between whites and blacks were named, there were loud cries for peace.

WE understand that applications were made at one of our iron mills, yesterday, by a number of stand-outers, for work at the reduced rates, but that they were unable to obtain it. The mill at which they applied, lately resumed operations in part, at prices fixed by the owner. The best he could say to the applicants was, that for the present he had all the workmen he wanted at any price; whether he should want more would depend entirely on the state of trade. He could only take the names of the applicants and give them his best wishes. This incident fully sustains what we have repeatedly said—that the question is not what the price shall be, but who will be able to obtain steady employment at any price?

EMIGRATION AND WAR.

A brick wall or even a stone one may be laid up too fast to be strong. And it is probably as true, that the population of a country may increase too rapidly for the vigor of its political health. It is supposed by some that the prospect of war in Europe will check the flow of immigration thence into this country. Others allege that it will be increased by that cause. Probably it would be if the people's will was as strong as that of Governments. But Governments are not accustomed to deplete their strength by allowing free emigration, when war is raising its demand for men at home. We consider it doubtful what the effect of European war would be on the great tide of emigration. Its diminution or its entire suspension for a time would not, so far as we can see, prove detrimental to any interest of our country.

We welcome immigrants and we admit to the full extent the benefits resulting from increase of population by that means. But the country gives no evidence of a lack of people in any department of useful industry. And so far as political, educational, social affairs are concerned, there does not seem to be any pressing need of demanding supply from that source. So that, should the threatened war in Europe necessitate the stoppage of emigration, no detriment would ensue from it to this republic. And in the mean time the assimilation to the American ideas and traditions would be happily going on and consolidating the people now here into a homogeneous and permanent political identity.

QUIETLY PROGRESSING.

Under the chosen method of adjusting the political condition of the Southern States, the military arm of the Government has nominally a conspicuous place. But there is no reason to fear that the coercive power will require application in reality, to any appreciable extent. Its functions appear to be more preventive than remedial, and in this respect, it will probably furnish confirmation to the maxim of practical philosophy, that an ounce of preventive is better than a pound of cure. The passive virtues, or rather the virtues of passivity, developed under the system already, give promise of ultimate results equal to the expectations of the Congress that adopted it. And in the end, we doubt not, it will prove to be the very thing demanded by the occasion, and the one best adapted to set the States concerned in their proper condition in the Union.

The Southern people are taking the right course, so far as this Government measure is concerned, in quietly acquiescing in it. They may designate their course by what name they please—submission, obedience, indifference—but it is acquiescence, and that is what is best for all parties. The positive coercion will be an infinitessimal quantity compared with the moral and rational influence the plan will exert in restoring order, prosperity and contentment to the distracted States. It will prevent the collision of races which would otherwise have been almost certain. It will demonstrate that the interest and preference of the loyal people are in favor of the best conditions of political restoration for the Southern States, and it will show a determined and principled purpose on the part of the loyal people and Government to have the adjustment made on right grounds and in a right way.

After such complete upturning of the foundations of society as has occurred, through the rebellion, in the Southern States, nothing less than a strong power was competent to govern efficiently. And especially was more power necessary than the States could exercise, even if they were willing, in disposing of those questions that were involved in the contest, and in defining the position of the materials of political society that were displaced by the war. Our general Government in repairing the evils resulting from this insurrectionary war is obliged to act for both parties; that is, for itself and the subdued insurgents. Herein is an occasion of embarrassment and of dissatisfaction that would not exist in a foreign war settled by treaty. But happily it is now in a fair way of securing the object aimed at—the restoration of the Union on grounds right and safe, and safe because right. The measure adopted is working as well as could be expected.

COTTON PROSPECTS.

Some of the journals in the Southern States are trying to persuade the farmers to turn their attention to the raising of grain crops and to general farming, and to desist, at least for a time, from cotton culture. In some respects, or rather to some extent, the advice is good, but that gives no assurance that it will be followed. In the reasons assigned for its support, it is weak and bad. The same thing has before, since the close of the rebellion, been proposed as a menace to the cotton manufacturing interests of the North. And it is not entirely disevered from that connection at the present time. The tax on cotton is what produces the present irritation, and the scarcity of subsistence is laid hold of to give point and efficiency to the appeal in favor of grain raising and in opposition to cotton raising.

But if the farmers in the cotton States find it more profitable, as they doubtless will, to raise cotton, they will do it, and depend on buying the grain that they need. They will not neglect cotton because the Government will receive a small tax from the product, nor because the article is wanted in the North, provided it can be raised with profit to themselves. Their climate and soil and other advantages favorable to this crop, are such as to make grain raising and general farming comparatively unprofitable. Some of our Southern brethren give a good deal of might to bad political advice and to resentful passions, but it is hardly probable that they will sink so weighty a consideration as pecuniary profit in the mode of their farming.

THE recent adjournment of our Legislature and the unpleasant sensation still felt in consequence of some of its action, suggest the utterance of a sentiment which might be deemed more seasonable just before the fall elections. It is this, that the received theory, of the relation existing between public officers and their constituents is entirely different from current opinions and facts. It is a pleasant illusion to contemplate officers as servants of the people, delegated to give organic expression to their will, or to carry into effect their authoritative purposes. How quickly is that picture of fancy blurred and distorted by a glance into the journals of the late Legislature on subjects connected with railroad interests. Nor will the reality be brought into closer accord with the true theory till officers cease to be conferred as a mere reward for party services, without regard to the capacity or integrity of the aspirant. Unless the matter be taken hold of in season, and in the right way by the people themselves, and handled differently from what it has heretofore been, they will continue to be fooled and disappointed interminably.

THE next point of interest for the universal moving Yankee is our newly acquired possessions in the Northwest. We can safely conclude that it will not be many years before that region will wear another appearance, and assume a real importance in the eyes of the whole world. What enterprise will do in developing its resources will be done. Already the Pacific Railroad people have new ideas given them and new prospects opened, by the acquisition of this new country, its relations to the trade of the East, and the bearings its development will have on the Pacific Road and its branches.

A CONTEMPORARY calls attention to the fact that when Louisiana was purchased, the tendency was almost universal in some parts of the country to condemn what had been done; and many of those of persons who defended the purchase did so from party reasons, and not because they believed we had gained much by the transaction. Good money had been paid for bad land, and we had furnished Bonaparte with means for warring against the independence of Europe, just as some men now think we have helped the Czar to funds for the carrying on of war.

NATIONAL RAILWAY CONVENTION.—J. Edgar Thomson, President of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, and also of the National Railway Convention, has issued a call for the reassembling of the latter body, at the St. Nicholas Hotel, New York, on the 8th of May. The object of the convention is to promote the mutual interests of the railway corporations of the country.

THE Philadelphia Price List says: The recent weather has had a beneficial effect upon the fruit, and early crops are expected to be less liable to damage from frosts and colds, than for several seasons past. The peach, apple, and pear trees indicate an unusual yield, throughout the entire counties of Atlantic, Burlington, Camden, Cumberland, Cape May, Gloucester, and Salem.

IN order to arrive at correct knowledge of the opinions of the clergy of Massachusetts on the question of prohibition, the Rev. Edward Otterman addressed to all of them a circular, to which 962 declared for prohibition, 56 for license, and 7 were in doubt. Of the 56 for License, 25 are Roman Catholics, 12 Unitarians, and 8 Episcopalians. Of the Orthodox Protestant and Universalist pastors, not one in fifty favors license.

THE GREAT ST. LOUIS BRIDGE.—An experienced engineer, R. B. Lewis, has commenced the preliminary operations in the construction of the bridge over the river opposite St. Louis. He is now boring through the sediment at the bottom of the river to ascertain the depth to the rock upon which the piers are to rest. The work is to be prosecuted with vigor and energy.

WESTERN UNION TELEGRAPH stock Thursday, at New York, recovered about 2½ per cent. on the decline of 6½ per cent. of the previous day or two—selling from 35½ up to 37½. The Times of that city ascribes the decline in good part to the organization of the Atlantic and Pacific Company, organized under the laws of New York.

PERSONAL.

—Mr. Weed proposes a list of eminent citizens for the convention to revise the constitution of New York, and adds: "Nor, in our judgment, would enlightened clergymen be out of place in the convention. Why not send such men as Bishop Potter, Archbishop McCluskey, Henry Ward Beecher, the Rev. Dr. Bellows, the Rev. Mr. Chapin, &c., &c.?"

—Mr. Beecher can not go on the Plymouth excursion up the Mediterranean. Bonner insists upon having the manuscript of the new story, and Beecher is pressed for it. In order to meet this "previous engagement," the Plymouth pastor must remain at home, and go to the Holy Land, &c., some other time.

—Gen. Carl Schurz has left the Detroit Post and removed to St. Louis to associate himself in the newspaper business there. Under his management the Post was ably conducted, but it is understood that thus far it has not been a paying institution.

—The latest case of taking revenge is that by Senator Fessenden, who because Portland took fire from a fire-cracker moved to exclude them from importation.

—It is asserted that Ristori has made $200,000 in this country.

—Says a London correspondent: "Give me a Yankee for finding a comfortable seat in Parliament. The other evening the eye of recognition cast over the peers' seats, might have discovered 'Carleton,' of the Boston Journal, comfortably seated between the Prince of Wales and the Bishop of Oxford, quite as much at home, with his dress coat and white cravat, as either of them. Indeed, American correspondents are getting the reputation of being in league with all the potentates of Europe."

—The friends of Miss Kate Bateman, (Mrs. Crow,) the actress, will be glad to learn that she is now rapidly recovering from the very dangerous illness, caused by a poison which had infused itself into her system some months ago in having a tooth filled.

—In the twentieth year of Queen Elizabeth's reign, a blacksmith of London, named Mark Scaliot, made a lock of iron, steel and brass, of eleven pieces, and a pipe key, all of which only weighed one grain. Scaliot also made a chain of gold, of forty-three links, which he fastened to the lock and key, and put it around the neck of a flea, which drew the whole with perfect ease. The chain, key, lock and flea, altogether, weighed but one grain and a half.

—Hon. Amasa Sprague, of Rhode Island, elder brother of Senator Sprague, is erecting, at his own estate at Rocky Point, on Narragansett Bay, a building for the accommodation of the visitors to the New England Agricultural Fair, with a capacity for five hundred people. This gentleman is said to be the owner of a stud rivalling that of an English turf owner. His stables contain two hundred and sixty horses.

A remarkable carriage, that belonged to the late General Cass, is in a livery stable in Saganaw. It was purchased by General Cass in France, and by him brought to the United States. Before the introduction of railways he journeyed twice from Detroit to Washington in it, the journey at that time being the labor of weeks.

—The Government is interesting itself about the visit to Europe of Lieutenant General Sherman in the Quaker City. Mr. Seward has written to Consuls and Ministers at various ports to say that any attentions offered to the General will be fully appreciated. The Navy Department proposes to give the Quaker City artillery and flags.

—Mr. Spencer, the inventor of Spencer's lathe, used by the American Bank-Note Company, was the artist who cut the first die for our American coin. He cut an exact medallion of Mrs. Washington, the wife of General Washington, and the first few coins were struck with her portrait. When General Washington saw them he was displeased. Mr. Spencer altered the features a little, and putting a cap upon its head called it the Goddess of Liberty. If future artists will bear this in mind, they will always take Mrs. Washington's portrait for their guide when wishing to produce the goddess.

—The publication of the diplomatic correspondence of 1865, discloses that the impression generally prevailed among our foreign representatives abroad that Booth was arrested immediately after the assassination, and more than one foreign agent expresses to Mr. Hunter, the acting Secretary, his grief for Mr. Seward's death, and his estimate of his character. Mr. Morris, writing from Constantinople, is one of these, but he is able the next day to send a dispatch to the Secretary expressing his joy at his recovery.

—One of the best of our extempore preachers affirms that he sometimes, in his best hours, loses all conscious hold upon his mind and speech, and while perfectly sure that all is going on well in his attic, it seems to him that something is talking up there; and he catches himself wondering who under the sun that fellow is who is driving on at such a rate.

—The Paris correspondent of the London Times describes some of the leading members of the French Legislative Chamber. Jules Favre has a mass of dishevelled hair, and is careless and somewhat uncouth in appearance, with marked and expressive but not over comely features. Ernest Picard has a round, jovial face, curling, light brown hair, an eye full of fun, and a sly smile. He is short, fat, chatty and good-humored. Eugene Pelletan stalks in with a glance like a scowl, though he does not mean it. He has deep-set eyes, and thick, jet black, overhanging eyebrows. With all his austere demeanor he is kind-hearted. Garnier-Pages is tall, thin, slightly stooping, his wan features "sicklied o'er with the pale cast of thought," and his long, thin, gray hair falling straight down behind nearly to his shoulders.

GENERAL INTELLIGENCE.

A number of mills in the town of Neenah, Wisconsin, one day last week, were stopped by fish in countless numbers filling the races. Says a local paper: All of the races in Neenah and Merasha, and both branches of the Fox river, were literally filled with fish, to the exclusion of the water, which was thrown back by this great fish dam till the banks were in danger of overflowing. As soon as the news spread, thousands of people flocked in from the villages and country to see the strange sight.

The prospect for a large crop of peaches in Delaware is reported to be very flattering. The cold weather has had the effect of keeping the sap down and buds from expanding, and should they not be injured by late frosts, the crop bids fair to equal that of 1864.

A gun has been invented, says the Scientific Review, in France, in which electricity is very ingeniously applied to the ignition of the charge. Two small electric batteries are inclosed in the stock, the conducting wires of which emerge at the surface, near the breech, and by a very simple means are connected, at pleasure, with a very fine platinum wire within the charge, so as to render it incandescent, and thus ignite the powder.

On the Fourth of July next the "bird of freedom" will scream from the Gulf of Mexico clear up to the North Pole.

While the Woman's Rights Convention was in session at Albany, a horse car was crowded. There entered a severe looking female. An old gent rose to give her a seat, "Be you one of those women-righters?" he asked. "I be," replied the ancient. "You believe a woman should have all the rights of a man do you?" he inquired. "Yes I do," was the emphatic answer. "Then," said the man "stand up and enjoy them like a man;" and she had to stand up.

One of the most extensive farms in the world is that of General Urquiza, of Buenos Ayres. It is about 300 square leagues in extent, on which there are grazing almost incalculable numbers of horses, beasts and sheep. This farm sends 50,000 head of cattle annually to be slaughtered. The horses would be sufficient to mount the cavalry of a large army, and a good many ships are annually laden with the wool of the sheep for Europe.

A gentleman who has traveled through the Carolinas, says one reason corn is so scarce and high, is because so much is distilled into whisky.

A wealthy capitalist having offered to advance the money a new enterprise is to be started in July next in New York in the form of a newspaper—morning and evening edition—conducted on the mutual plan, and to be called the Reporter's Journal.

During the past ten years 12,000 new buildings were erected in Chicago—more than 11,000 of which were built of wood—dry pine. It is the hardest city in the Union to combat fires—and perhaps the remark holds good in some other respects.

The Maine papers say a young woman in Brownfield, twenty-four years of age, recently extracted from her ear a kernel of corn which was planted there nineteen years before. It was whole, but slightly discolored. So the woman has shelled her ear of corn.

There is now very little fractional currency in circulation below the denomination of dimes, and, as the coinage of the new five-cent pieces goes on actively, they will soon be entirely cancelled. Congress should authorize the coinage of dimes. This is a kind of currency contraction that would meet with no opposition; for no matter what opinion people may entertain regarding the curtailment of greenbacks, they unanimously indorse the supercedure of the abominable fractional currency.

In New England and elsewhere, the operatives in the cotton and woolen mills are combining to resist the reduction of wages sought to be obtained on account of the stagnation of those branches of industry, and also to obtain a reduction of hours of labor.

CORN AND BUNION OINTMENT,

Is not only a relief, but a radical cure for those pests of the feet. Mr. J. W. Barker, the Market street Dry Goods Merchant, says Peterson's Ointment removed the pain almost immediately, and ultimately removed the corns from his feet.

COE'S DYSPEPSIA CURE

Is prepared by the originator of the justly celebrated Coe's Cough Balsam. Mr. Coe has never prepared a medicinal article for public and general use but what has stood the strongest tests, and has always borne the palm of victory over every disease it has been certified to cure. Will you who are suffering from dyspepsia, indigestion, nausea, sick headache, cholera morbus, dysentary and general debility of the whole system, try but a single bottle? We will never urge you again if we fail in this case. Our own knowledge of its merits, the united testimony of all who have ever tried it, the encomiums of hundreds of our own neighbors, your duty to yourself, and the beneficial result, as certain as sunshine, all urgently, persistently urge you to try just one bottle. If what we say is not correct—if our statements concerning its wonderful virtues are not found to be true—if you do not say that the operation of the medicine is instantaneous and perfectly wonderful—we will renounce our profession as caterers to the public health, and retire from the field, admitting that we are incompetent to compound a medicinal preparation which would be entitled to your confidence.

SOUTHWEST

SEVEN PER CENT.

First Mortgage Bonds.

$2,000,000 in Coupon Bonds of $1,000 Each,

TWENTY YEARS TO RUN,

Principal and Interest Guaranteed by the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company,

And secured by property valued at $7,500,000, consisting of their completed road to the Gasconade river, 127 miles from St. Louis, and 350,000 Acres of Rich Agricultural and Mineral Lands on its line.

This road passes through a country rich in agricultural resources and in minerals, and particularly so in iron and lead; the iron ore of the Southwest Missouri being the purest known, ranging from 60 to 90 per cent. of pure iron. Rich and extensive deposits of specular oxide and red and brown hematites abound all along the line of the road and on the Company's lands in greater quantities than the total iron deposit of any State in the Union, and a large business is now being inaugurated in freighting iron ore for the Eastern furnaces, the vast excess in yield of this over other ores paying the differences in cost of transportation.

By a provision of the mortgage, when lands are sold to the amount of $40,000, it is to constitute a fund for the redemption of a like amount of bonds, which are also received by the Company at PAR in payment for land. This land is now being disposed of at rates from $5 to $40 per acre. The climate is remarkably salubrious, and the mean temperature the same as in Virginia, the winter being short and mild. For particulars respecting lands, address Colonel A. ALBERT, Land Agent, at St. Louis, Mo.

The Company has been recently merged with the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company, having a land grant of 55,000,000 of acres, thereby adding to the fullest to the security of these bonds.

The road of the latter Company, when completed, will form a direct and continuous railway from St. Louis to San Francisco, much shorter and of vastly easier gradients than any other route.

Of the present issue of bonds, a limited amount is now offered for sale at the low rate of 80 per cent., subject to advance at the option of the Company.

HERB BITTERS,

GREAT DYSPEPSIA CURE.

We have received the following communication from Capt. EDWARD DUFF, of East Liberty, bearing strong testimony to the great virtues of MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS, as a remedy for DYSPEPSIA AND INDIGESTION.

EAST LIBERTY, March 25, 1867.

MESSRS. FAHNESTOCK & HOLTON—

Gentlemen: I write to add my testimony to that of thousands of others as to the merits of MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS, that the sick and afflicted may have the benefit of my experience with your Invaluable Medicine. For many years I have been suffering with the very worst form of Indigestion and Dyspepsia. Only those who have been afflicted as I have know the trouble, pain and misery I endured. After suffering a number of years, I was induced to try your MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS. The use of but a small quantity of this most excellent Medicine has effected a radical cure in my case, and I here take occasion to recommend its use to all persons similarly affected. I am much pleased to see that we are to have a Branch House for the sale of this remedy in Pittsburgh

Hoping that MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS will meet with that approbation and extended sale their great merits entitle them, and that thousands upon thousands of our suffering fellow creatures may be healed, as I have been, through their extraordinary virtue and curative powers, I am truly, yours,
EDWARD DUFF.

NOTICE—TO THE BONDHOLDERS OF THE ERIE CANAL COMPANY.—By an act approved March 15th, 1867, the Erie Canal Company is authorized to enlarge their canal to such size as they may deem expedient.
The Act authorizes the increase of the capital stock to $1,500,000, and authorizes the Company to receive in payment for subscriptions to stock any bonds, judgments or other indebtedness of the company. The act further provides that "When the present indebtedness of the company or three-fourths of the same shall have been converted into capital stock, the said company is hereby authorized to execute a mortgage of the said canal, its rights, privileges and franchises to their trustees, and issue coupon or other bonds to the amount of one million of dollars, bearing seven per centum interest per annum and not running over forty years, and secured by the mortgage aforesaid, to be expended by the said trustees under the direction of the Board of Directors in the enlargement of the said canal, and with power to sell said bonds at such prices as the Directors may deem expedient."
The company proposes to enlarge the canal to pass boats of from 200 to 250 tons burden, and as there can be little doubt of the canal, when enlarged, paying the interest on its present debt and stock, in addition to the interest on the new bonds, it is hoped the Bondholders will promptly convert their bonds into stock, to enable the company to proceed at once to make arrangements for enlarging. The stock books of the company will be open for the conversion of the present bonds into stock, on and after the FIRST DAY OF MAY, 1867.
By order of the Board.

The Daily Commercial

Contest at the Pittsburgh Female College.

To the Editor of the Pittsburgh Commercial:

Since Faust's original partner, or some-other inter, distributed, before inserting, my notice f the contest of the Pittsburgh Female College, I must even write another, as the press as not done justice to that occasion. The aculty offered a beautiful writing desk as a ize for the best essay by one of the ladies who ill graduate next June. The large chapel of e College was filled by an audience of the inking religious portion of the citizens. Rev. R. Kerr, D. D., Hon. H. W. Williams and on. J. P. Sterrett, were the judges. The reading the essays was varied by music, under the anagement of Professor Rohbock, principal anist of the Institution, and a teacher of om Pittsburgh has just reason to be proud. "Overture from Barbieri de Seville," played him and his daughter, Miss Rohbock, and ivertimento Brilliante from Somnambula" by e same and J. Everson, were in the highest yle of piano performance; and a rare treat to cultivated lovers of music who were present. tude de Concert," by Miss Zo Swisshelm, a pil in the College, was executed in a manner at did credit to both pupil and teacher. The neral progress of the music pupils of the College, show great tact in Professor Rohbock, o has a rare gift in communicating his taste d skill to his pupils.

Mrs. Sheib, vocal teacher, Miss Emma P. wyer and Miss Anna P. Foster sang sweetly d superbly. Mrs. Sheib has a rare voice, d rare command of it; and her pupils do her eat credit. Miss Annie Kerr, a young lady th a sweet, thoughtful face, and in simple, lf mourning dress, failed in her song through nidity, and the failure was beautiful.

The contestants occupied places on the platm, and were that most lovely of all lovely ghts,a group of bright young girls; but they had ade the mistake of dressing more like dowager chesses than school girls. One simple, ite muslin dress, without ornament, would ve made a pleasant contrast.

Several of them have heads which indicate ellectual power, quite above average; but ne of them will ever greatly excel the mass her sex. The shoulders of their dresses are long; and they fit too neatly und the waists. No woman ever ote her name high on the roll fame without raising her arm to do it, raising it habitually and freely as a blacksmith rking at a forge. No woman ever wrote a ok that will live a century, indited a fine m, painted a fine picture or modeled a fine tue, who habitually wore a dress that a manmaker would call a fit. No Chinese won's foot was ever more surely dwarfed by an n shoe, than the brains of American, English l French women are dwarfed by neat dresses. sa Bonheur raises her arms as freely as any wman. So does Harriet Hosmer and every cessful artist, male and female. Had Mrs. owning's blood ran over blockade of core, or band in its course from the tips of her gers, soles of her feet, and meshes of her in, to heart and lungs, she would never have tten one page of poetry, only verses, as hunds of well dressed women do. When our ools for girls take the ground of our miliy academies, educate the body as well as the id, woman will begin to do their share of world's thinking.

The essays were all too long. That which k the prize, "Where shall I write my name," Miss Louisa Ogden, of Penn Yan, "The d's Perfection," by Miss Emma Boyd, of tsburgh, and "Hands," by Miss Francis ick, of Penn Yan, were so nearly equal in rit, that to distinguish was a mere matter of e. I would have given the prize to "Hands." ese three differed from all the others, in unity. They did not wander from the subject. ichens and Mosses," by Carrie M. Mathiot, mithfield, was perhaps superior to all the ers in point of fine sentiments smoothly exssed, but some of them had no special refnce to the matter in hand. No one of the ays were without positive merit, and the preing fault was this lack of concentration. eral erred in bringing in the planatary sys, which is always unmanageable in a school position; and one young lady made the take of assuming that the flowers at the om of the ocean have some trouble in bearup under the weight of the water; another stating that pearl divers find "myriads the young and beautiful dead" and all athed with sea weed in Old Ocean's caves. fish eat the dead folks, young and old, who into their dominions. Except these two er, and they are common to young writers, ntroducing foreign matter, the compositions e each and all of a high order, and such as ause honest pride to the friends and teachof the young ladies. AARON SAUD.

IGHT on the heels of Judge Holmes's book iting Bacon with the authorship of what are wn as the writings of Shakspeare, because on knew everything and Shakspeare little or ing, another work has appeared which es Bacon in quite a new light before the ld. The author is the distinguished chemist tas Von Liebig. He says he was led to study on's works in the pursuit of his investigas in natural history, and expected to find in n a vein of excellent substance, but he found adjectives and pomposity, and came away n his readings disappointed, dissatisfied and pty-handed. After citing certain passages Bacon had taken bodily from Gilbert, Drebr and others, he says: "In these modern s of sensitiveness in regard to such things, on's act would certainly have been called plagiarism." In concluding he says: "The e and erroneous views of a past age often all among the people long after their s have been destroyed. Out of the worn-out rags of science Bacon ped a new garment to fit his ntrymen; and, although it did not cover r nakedness, yet every one found that it convenient and of good cut; and so, ugh his labors to confirm the old falses in possession of the ground, the new h which Newton, Harvey, and Boyle, ught to light had the more difficulty in gging for acceptance." Liebig's judgment ld seem rather harsh if he were not so well ported by others. Any one who has read nboldt's "Cosmos" will recollect that he s Bacon was quite behind his age in mathatics, astronomy, and physics, that he was ust towards Copernicus and Gilbert, and Leonardo da Vinci had long before him ted of the method of experimental inducLaplace also said: "Bacon has indeed n the prescriptions but not the example of estigation." Lastly, Liebig's French transr says he was led to the work by finding big's views so exactly coincident with his; he had been much engaged with the ks of investigators and travelers of the teenth, fourteenth, and fifteenth centuries reparing his work on Asia Minor, and was prised to find how arid and unsatisfactory on's works are.

HE Round Table indulges in the following icism of prevailing fashions:

Ve cannot say that we greatly admire the our of the most fashionable garbs we have herto seen. The extraordinary ascension of chignon is, we think, a physiognomical nder, as well as objectionable otherwise. re is a certain caricature of haughtiness in ffect which is not only a little ridiculous, more than a little unladylike. A strained ct is quite unescapable with this species of ure—a look as if the young ladies had fallen the hands of wild Indians, who, comicing with the waterfall in its old legitimate e, had scalped it up to the crown and left it e. The short dresses, too, are less graceful the trains, although far more sensible, and rotund skirts have collapsed with a precipiy which has a very whimsical effect to the ccustomed eye.

Such a rare treat should be enjoyed by a crowded audience.

THE HAYMAKERS TO-NIGHT.—Our readers will remember that Root's delightful operatic cantata, "The Haymakers," in costume, will be repeated this evening at the Academy of Music, under the direction of Miss Ernest. The gratification experienced on its first representation was manifested by enthusiastic applause, and the prospects are that there will be another large audience present this evening.

HYGEIA BASE BALL CLUB.—The members of the Hygeia Base Ball Club, of this city, met yesterday afternoon at the office of McMaster, Gazzam & Co., on Grant street, and re-organized for the ensuing season by electing the following officers: President—Joseph M. Gazzam; Vice-President—Dr. D. McNeal; Secretary—Chris. M. Magee; Treasurer—Thomas A. Cain; Executive Committee—Robert S. Sill, J. Webb Little, Capt. Chatham T. Ewing, Capt. J. R. T. Noble and Glasgow Curry.

ANOTHER TWENTY-INCH GUN.—Some months since a twenty-inch navy gun, designed for the United States gunboat Puritan was cast at the Fort Pitt Works in this city. The Government of Chile, however, becoming enamored of it purchased it, and yesterday a new one was cast to supply its place. The amount of metal required was seventy tons, or 140,000 pounds, and when the gun is finished it will weigh nearly 100,000 pounds. Its greatest diameter will be sixty-four inches, diameter of the muzzle thirty-eight inches; length of bore one hundred and fifty-seven inches. The depth of the pit in which it was cast is twenty-six feet, and the depth of the mould, inside, twenty-six feet nine inches. About two weeks will elapse before the gun will be sufficiently cooled to admit of its removal to the proving ground. A ball, weighing one thousand pounds, will be used in the test, and about one hundred pounds of powder will be required to charge it. The cost of this monster will be about ten thousand dollars.

THE AQUATIC CHAMPIONSHIP.

Walter Brown's Appearance—His Training Quarters Selected, and Work to be Commenced To-day—Hamill's Quarters.

The advent of the courteous and gentlemanly young Portlander, Walter Brown, who is to compete with our popular and equally clever townsman, Jimmy Hamill, for the championship of American scullers, has greatly increased the interest in this forthcoming important event. Hamill has pledged his competitor a fair race, and has promised that our citizens will extend him all the civilities that he could wish. This is eminently proper, as Mr. Brown is a courteous young gentleman who will merit the good opinion of our citizens. He comes among us to wrest, if possible, the championship from one of our own citizens—to do it by fair and skillful means, only asking that he shall have fair play. That he will receive anything else but fair play we do not for a moment doubt, as the reputation of our people, particularly the boating fraternity, in that respect is too well established to admit of doubt.

Mr. Brown, accompanied by his trainer, Jno. Shea, visited this office yesterday. He is in the twenty-seventh year of his age, is five feet nine inches in height, and weighed yesterday one hundred and sixty-eight pounds. He is a ship-carpenter by trade, and the first race with the sculls he ever participated in was in 1858, at a regatta in Newburg bay. He has since appeared in some twenty single, double and four-oared races, in two-thirds of which he was on the winning side. His prominent feat with the single sculls was the defeat of Joshua Ward, ex-champion, September 18th, 1866, in Portland harbor, when he won the purse of $2,000, distance three miles, in twenty-two minutes and thirty seconds. He subsequently issued a challenge, the result of which was the making of the present match. Brown yesterday selected his quarters on the Monongahela river, above and opposite Glenwood, the same occupied by Joshua Ward in 1864. Here he will have the use of the boat-house of the McKee Boat Club, whose guest he will be, and who will anchor their boat-house during his stay in that locality. He will commence his training this morning, under the direction of Mr. Shea, who accompanies him, and will remain in his present quarters three weeks and a half, at the expiration of which time he will come down to the regular course and spend the remaining portion of the time previous to the race in putting on the finishing touches. He is in good spirits and hopeful of the result.

Hamill will remain for the present at his quarters, at the foot of Ross street, and will continue to take his usual exercise with the clubs, dumb bells and pulley. He has not permanently located his training quarters, but they will probably be on the South side of the Ohio. Hamill yesterday weighed one hundred and seventy-three and a half pounds, or five pounds more than his competitor. Our townsman is determined to leave no effort undone on his part to retain his well-earned laurels, and will give due attention to his training, to win the race. May the best man win, is the desire of all honest men.

POLICE INTELLIGENCE.

[Before U. S. Commissioner Bailey.]

A PHYSICIAN ARRESTED FOR PASSING COUNTERFEIT MONEY.

Dr. W. J. Smith, of Lawrenceville, was before United States Commissioner John H. Bailey, of this city, yesterday, charged with passing, and having in his possession, counterfeit fractional currency of the denomination of fifty cents. It appears that last week three or four counterfeit fifty cent notes had been passed at the grocery store of Shields & Bouchre, on Smithfield street, and the proprietors determined to put a stop to it, notified the United States detectives. On Saturday afternoon, Dr. Smith, who was unknown to the proprietors, came into the store, and after purchasing some tea, tendered in payment a counterfeit fifty cent note. He was asked where he obtained it, but he gave no satisfactory answer. The detectives in the meantime were quietly notified, and as the Doctor was about leaving the store he was taken into custody. On being searched, eighty-one dollars in bogus fifty cent notes were found in his possession. He was committed to jail for a hearing before Commissioner Bailey at four o'clock yesterday afternoon. When the hearing came up, the defendant's counsel asked for a postponement of it until four o'clock this afternoon, in order to obtain witnesses, which was granted. The accused was then remanded back to jail. The money found in his possession was the best executed counterfeit of that denomination ever manufactured. Dr. Smith is not unknown to fame, having been up twice before for passing counterfeit money, in one of which cases he saved himself by turning State's evidence. The arrest of Dr. Smith was made known to our reporter on Sunday, but at the request of the detectives, with the understanding that no mention of it would be made by the other city papers, the fact was not published in these columns.

ALLEGED ROBBERS ARRESTED.

We mentioned two or three weeks since that the store of C. L. Lucas, at Buena Vista, Elizabeth township, was burglariously entered and robbed of goods to the amount of over five hundred dollars. Information was made before Alderman Strain of this city, and the matter placed in the hands of officer Seth Wilmot. A day or two since officer Wilmot obtained information that some of the stolen goods had been found in the possession of some young men residing in Elizabeth township. Yesterday morning, officer Wilmot, accompanied by officers William and Joseph Brown, started for Buena Vista, where they secured the aid of officer Stewart, constable of Elizabeth township. The officers arrested three young men named Howell Douglas, Thomas Douglas, (brothers,) and James Mansfield, whom they brought to this city. Howell Douglas, when arrested, was wearing one of the shirts stolen from Mr. Lucas's store. None of the other stolen goods were found. Alderman Strain held them to bail in the sum of three thousand dollars each for their appearance on Friday next for a hearing. The young men all reside in Elizabeth township, about two miles from Buena Vista, and have always heretofore borne an excellent reputation.

[Before Alderman Mullin, of Allegheny.]

ALLEGED FRAUD.

Frederick Behner yesterday made an information against Charles Patterson, charging him with attempted fraud. The prosecutor alleges that the defendant was indebted to him in the sum of seventy-six dollars and fifty cents for repairing his wagon. The defendant has now quit his business of hauling coal, and sold off all his effects, with the evident intention of leaving the county and defrauding the prosecutor of all the money due him. A warrant was issued for the arrest of the accused, who resides in Fourth ward, Allegheny.

ALLEGHENY COUNCILS.

Commissioners for Common Grounds Improvement Selected—The New Market House to be Built, etc., etc.

An adjourned meeting of the Councils of Allegheny was held last evening.

COMMON COUNCIL.

Members present—Messrs. Cutler, Dunham, Dill, Falhauber, Hanna, Harper, Ingham, Kirkpatrick, Megraw, McNeil, Reed, Smith, Windsor and President Riddle.

The report of the Committee on Street Railways, adopted in S. C., April 11th, was read and concurred in.

The action of S. C., in ordering the grading and paving of Fayette street, in the Second ward, and Ridge street, from Grant to Irwin avenues, was concurred in.

The reports of the Committee on Police, Fire Engines and Hose, and Wharfs and Landings, were read, and the action of S. C. concurred in.

The report of the Committee on Common Grounds with the act of the Legislature providing for the improvement of said grounds, was presented and adopted.

Mr. Falhauber offered a resolution for the repairing of the fence around the City Basin, which was read three times and adopted.

Mr. Dunham, a resolution directing the Committee on City Property to procure additional desks for the use of the new members.

Mr. Falhauber stated that although he was a member of the Committee on City Property, he did not think any action had been taken in the matter. The members of the committee from the Select Council [illegible] to overlook the claims of the members from the Common branch, and did not ask any advice from them.

Mr. Hanna moved as an amendment that a special committee be appointed to procure the desks. The resolution as amended was adopted.

Mr. Kirkpatrick presented a petition from Messrs. Glenbausen & Crawford, requesting that they be supplied at their works in Duquesne borough with water from the city works.

The presentation of this petition gave rise to considerable debate. Mr. McNeil stated that he had been informed that the gentleman who presented the petition (Mr. Kirkpatrick) had charge of the Water works during the indisposition of the Superintendent, and had, for the paltry sum of six dollars, permitted a party to tap the main supply pipe.

Mr. Kirkpatrick responded by stating that he had accorded the privilege referred to at the request of the Chairman of the Water Committee. The money which had been received had been paid into the City Treasury.

A motion to lay the resolution on the table was offered by Mr Hanna and passed.

Mr. Smith presented a resolution instructing the Committee on Streets to prepare an ordinance regulating the width of public alleys, with a view of having them hereafter opened of a less width than twenty feet. Adopted.

Mr. Dunham, presented a petition from property holders for the grading and paving of Jefferson street in the Second ward. Read and referred to Committee on Streets.

Mr. Megraw offered the following, which was adopted:

Resolved, That the Committee on Water be instructed to inquire by what authority certain parties in Duquesne borough have tapped one of the main water pipes belonging to the city, and if said parties have not had sufficient authority that the water be shut off.

Mr. Megraw also offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the City Controller be and he is hereby authorized to advertise for proposals for the erection of a market house, to be paid for in bonds of the city, as provided for by the late act of Assembly. Adopted.

JOINT SESSION.

Councils then went into joint session for the purpose of selecting Commissions to superintend the improvements of the Common Grounds. The chairman stated that the commission, under the act of Assembly, would consist of three members of Council, and three citizens not members of Councils.

The election for members of the commission from the body of citizens was entered into, when the following nominations were made: Messrs. M. McGonigle, James Park, Jr., Felix R. Brunot, O. O. Phillips, David McCandless, Samuel Riddle, Alex. Young, Robert Lee, W. P. Marshall, Jonathan Gallagher, Geo. R. Riddle, John F. Jennings, Geo. W. Beck, L. W. Painter, and John Heath.

The election resulted in the choice of the following persons: Messrs. James Park, Jr., Third ward; Jonathan Gallagher, Fifth ward; Robert Lee, Second ward.

The following members of Council were then chosen, by ballot, as members of the commission: Messrs. A. H. English, Third ward; John H. Siagle, Fourth ward; J. C. Patterson, Fourth ward.

The delegation from the First ward objected to the election, owing to the fact that their ward was not represented in the commission. The matter was discussed at some length, when on motion of Mr. Irwin those gentlemen who had received the highest number of votes were declared elected.

The Mayor transmitted a communication from Gen. Robinson, congratulating Councils upon the defeat of the Consolidation bill. The communication was received and filed.

Council then went into caucus for the purpose of selecting a suitable person for Recording Regulator, but finally referred the matter to the Committee on Streets and Sewers.

On motion adjourned.

SELECT COUNCIL.

Members present: Messrs. English, Hall, Irwin, Mothersall, Myler, Pace, J. C. Patterson, A. Patterson, A. D. Smith, Thomas, President McBrier.

The final report of the late borough of Manchester was presented and read.

A petition from the citizens residing on Washington street, asking for a water pipe on that street. Referred in Common Council to the Committee on Water. Select Council concurred.

A petition praying for the opening of Union street to North Avenue. Referred in Common Council to the Committee on Streets and Sewers. Concurred.

A petition to grade and pave Washington street, Manchester. Referred in Common Council to the Committee on Streets and Sewers. Concurred.

A resolution, passed in Common Council at last meeting, instructing the Committee on Engines to contract with Gamewell, Kinnard & Co., for their system of fire alarm and police telegraph, on the terms and conditions they propose, was introduced. The reading of the proposal was called for. The proposal provides for the erection, for the sum of $13,000, of a system identical with that of Mobile, and identical with that of Pittsburgh, except that the central office is done away and the number of boxes less than in Pittsburgh.

Mr. Myler stated that he had been laboring under a mistake when he opposed the system now proposed. Since he came to understand the system thoroughly, he considered that it embodied all the points required in a perfect system. It comprises all the advantages of the Cushman system, besides having a valuable police telegraph.

Mr. Thomas said that he had examined the proposed system as thoroughly as possible. He had learned that it could be used not alone for a fire alarm, but for a police telegraph. He considered that the system was as nearly perfect as it could be, and illustrated, by examples, that he had himself seen. He hoped earnestly for concurrence on the part of Select Council.

Mr. Myler stated that Mr. Gamewell had authorized him to say that the bonds of the city would be taken in payment [illegible].

Mr. Hall suggested that ready cash would be very [illegible] the reference of the matter of payment to the Finance Committee. He urged concurrence. If the city had to run in debt.

The action of Common Council was unanimously concurred in, the resolution read three times and finally passed.

The President announced that Mr. A. Patterson had been added to the Finance Committee, Mr. McBrier to the Committee on Wharves and Landings, Mr. Pace to the Committee on Police and to a committee on Surveys, Mr. Patterson to the Committee on Printing, Mr. Mothersall to the Committee on Ordinances, Mr. Pace to the Committee on Fire Engines, and Mr. Patterson to the Committee on Street Railroads.

Mr. Thomas offered the following.

Resolved, That the Committee on Streets are hereby instructed to employ a practical mechanic to superintend the construction of the canal sewer. Read and adopted.

Mr. Myler offered the following:

Resolved, That the District of Manchester be hereafter known as the Fifth ward, Allegheny. Resolution adopted.

An animated discussion took place concerning the action of Common Council in regard to the appointment of a special committee to procure desks for the chambers. The discussion terminated in non-concurrence on the part of S. C., the action referred to the appointment of a special committee.

Resolution adopted in Common Council increasing the salaries of the Messenger of Councils and Clerk of Committees. Action non-concurred in.

A motion to adjourn prevailed.

THE SOUTHERN FAMINE.

Meeting at the Board of Trade Rooms—Address and Resolutions Adopted.

An adjourned meeting of citizens favorable to sending supplies to the South to aid those who are now in a starving condition, was held yesterday afternoon at the Board of Trade Rooms, Wood street. At the hour appointed for the meeting about a dozen persons were present, and after waiting for an hour, and no additions being made to the assemblage, a meeting was organized by calling Geo. H. Thurston, Esq., to the chair, and appointing the reporters of the press present as Secretaries.

After the object of the meeting had been stated, R. H. Kerr, Esq., said that twenty years ago a meeting was held in the First Presbyterian Church of this city, to take measures towards alleviating the distresses of the residents of Ireland. The matter was brought up in the right way, and before the meeting adjourned $40,782 had been collected. If Pittsburgh had done so well for the residents of a foreign country, why would it not now exert itself to relieve the distresses of our Southern brethren? Mr. Kerr then offered the following, which was adopted:

ADDRESS AND RESOLUTIONS.

"With charity for all and malice towards none."

We most respectfully call the attention of the people of Allegheny county, in view of the sad distress circled round the Southern States, in which a large portion of our fellow beings are destitute of the necessaries to sustain life, starving unto death for the want of food in a land of plenty, we therefore invite the co-operation of our citizens throughout the county to assist with their (ample) means by contributing whatever they can spare in money, bread-stuffs and all other kinds of produce that our people in their generosity and charity may deem proper to donate. The accounts which reach us daily of the destitution of the Southern people fill our hearts with anguish for the suffering poor of that woe-stricken country, which calls loudly on the benevolent to assist in staying the monster Starvation. Then will you who are blessed with plenty by a gracious Providence refuse to aid the unfortunate? Will it be said of our people that they stood all the day idle, and refused to bestow their mite on suffering women and children, when we have fed and clothed the subjects of the Queen of Great Britain and others? We trust that such a reproach will not be cast at our doors, when by sending what we can spare may be the means of saving the lives of thousands of our own people. Then, friends and Americans, of Allegheny county, "do unto others as you would have others do unto you," and in the name of God bestow your charity on those who cannot assist themselves. We implore you in the name of the starving of all ages, sexes and conditions, to forward your means and assist in alleviating the great distress that pervades the poor Southern people. We appeal to every human heart to do all that can be done in the holy cause of preserving the lives of our fellow citizens in that portion of our common country. Therefore,

Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed, whose duty it will be to call public meetings in such places in the county as may be deemed advisable. That the clergy be requested to call the attention of their respective congregations, to the distress in the South, and that a collection be taken up in aid of the suffering poor. That said committee designate speakers to address meetings in the county. That our friends and others be requested to donate whatever they can spare in corn, flour, or such other produce as they may deem proper to bestow. "May the God of all Grace and Mercy and Compassion touch the hearts of all in saving from death our own flesh and blood." Let us exhibit to the world that goodness of soul which will rebound to the honor and fame of our country by overlooking past differences in the cause of true charity.

Resolved, That said committee, with the Chairman of this meeting, are requested to call on the different officers of our railroads, and request them to transport, free of charge, all produce donated for the suffering South. That said committee give notice of the fact in all the city papers friendly to the object.

Rev. Mr. Tracey, a Catholic clergyman who resided in the South for years, and who attached himself to the western army upon the breaking out of the war, where he served for four years, was called upon for a few remarks. Mr. Tracey stated that he had but recently left Alabama and Georgia and that the citizens of those States were in a destitute condition, and all the supplies which they had yet received from the North were quantities of corn, which had, in some instances, been carried on the backs of residents twelve miles to their homes. Many families, who, before the war, had been in a prosperous condition, were now reduced to starving want, and were suffering for the common necessities of of life.

Mr. W. D. Moore stated that he had received a number of letters from the South, which gave very distressing descriptions of the Southern famine.

Mr. Jos. S. Lare said that he had received a letter from the Southern Relief Commission at Louisville, Ky., from Samuel A. Miller, the General Agent, giving an account of the destitution in the State of Georgia, Alabama, and parts of Mississippi and South Carolina, and proposed that all moneys collected by the meeting be forwarded to the Commission at Louisville. Mr. Lare also stated that Gen. G. W. Cass, President of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad Company, had signified his willingness to transport all supplies for the suffering South over the road which he represented free of charge.

The resolutions presented by Mr. Kerr were then adopted, and the following gentlemen appointed as the Committee provided for: Messrs. Isaac Jones, F. R. Brunot, Rev. Jos. S. Travillo, R. H. Kerr, S. Stein, and Frank Sellers.

On motion adjourned.

Public Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—The beautiful and artistic young actress, Meria Methua Scheller, gave an excellent impersonation of the impassioned "Juliet," of Shakspeare, last evening. Excepting the slight German accent, distinguishable only in a few sentences, the performance was really a meritorious one. Mr. Leak was a very fair Romeo, and as usual with him played with good judgment. To-night Mmme. Scheller will personate "Pauline, the Lady of Lyons."

VARIETIES.—The unusual varied and attractive programme is announced for this evening, in which all the stars and favorites take part. An agreeable evening is to be expected at the Varieties.

ALLEGHENY BUILDING ASSOCIATION.—An association has been formed in Allegheny City, called the "Mechanics' Building and Mutual Loan Association," the object of which is to assist all its members in procuring homes. Customers and others will find at this establishment a very elegant assortment of striped goods, which cannot be had at any other place in the city. For a handsome, tasty and durable suit, or part of a suit, this is the firm to patronize.

THE HAYMAKERS.—We hope that our friends will not forget the repetition of Root's grand operatic cantata, entitled the "Haymakers," to-night, at the New Academy of Music, on Liberty street. The satisfaction given on the occasion of its first representation has led to its repetition to-night, for the benefit of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Home; the Soldiers' Orphans, and the Soldiers' Monumental Fund. The object is one of the most laudable that can be conceived, and deserves a crowded house on the occasion.

G. M. T. E.—R. Mitchell, Merchant Tailor, No. 91 Federal street, Allegheny, has just opened his new store, which is stocked with a large and choice selection of goods for spring and summer wear. Great pains have been taken in selecting styles, and in the getting up of garments this season, unequalled in every respect. We invite an early call. Gentlemen's furnishing goods of every style and quality.

ELEGANT LITHOGRAPHY.—Attention is directed to the new Lithographic Printing House of Mr. Charles A. Miller, No. 80 Fourth street. Mr. Miller is one of the most expert and skilled men in his profession that we have ever had in our midst, and we tell guarantee in saying that all work entrusted to him will be executed with the utmost neatness and with all possible dispatch. We need hardly add that some of the finest specimens of Lithography in this city are the results of his practical workmanship. Our business community will consult their interests by keeping him in mind that they may secure his services whenever they require work of this character.

COAL AND COAL MINING.—Alfred P. Rockwell, A. M., Professor of Mining and Mine Engineering in Yale College, is announced to deliver two lectures on Coal and Coal Mining, in this city, under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association. The first lecture will be given to-night at Masonic Hall, and the second on Thursday night at the same place. The subject is a speciality with Prof. Rockwell. He graduated at the school of mines at Paris, and attended the mining schools at Freiburg and Saxony, and has explored most of the mines of the old world. He is a practical coal miner and owns a mine. The main points of the lecture will be on the origin and composition of coal, the relation of distribution and consumption in different countries, and the difficulties to be overcome in coal mining peculiar to different countries.

Dr. Hunter's practice is confined to affections of the chest, viz.: Sore throat, ozena, bronchitis, asthma, consumption, and disease of the heart.

Parties wishing to avail themselves of Dr. Hunter's experience in these affections, should embrace the earliest opportunity before his return to New York, for a personal interview and examination, after which they can pursue the treatment without difficulty.

THE NATIONAL INSURANCE COMPANY OF ALLEGHENY.—Of the various and many Insurance Companies organized in our midst, very few offer inducements as superior, advantageous or desirable as the National Insurance Company of the city of Allegheny. It is thoroughly liberal in the range of objects which it insures, embracing dwellings, warehouses, stores and other buildings; furniture and merchandise, etc., against loss by fire. It is conducted upon strictly insurance principles, which are always calculated to benefit the insured. This is the true aim, and this is the policy of the company. Thus far the highest satisfaction has been given to every one who has either invested in its stock or taken out one of its multiplied policies. The gentlemen who compose its Board of Directors are all personally known in this community for their unyielding perseverance and business tact, and moral integrity. These are qualifications which ought never to be overlooked by those who would insure to advantage. They reflect the highest credit upon the institution and constitute a guarantee that the interests of the insured will be sacredly regarded. The same may be said of the other officers of this Company, each of them being gentlemen of enlarged practical experience and valuable beyond expression in any organization of this character. The National Insurance Company embraces among its stockholders the finest business men we have in our midst. The capital stock at the present time is one hundred thousand dollars, with the privilege of increasing it to two hundred thousand dollars. The company is patronized by the solid financial men in this part of the country; pays all its losses with the utmost promptness and correctness, and is very rapidly acquiring a business which already rivals many older companies in this State. We direct attention to it for the purpose of advising our readers where to insure. The office of the company is located in the Allegheny Trust Company's Building, opposite to the Postoffice, in the city of Allegheny. The following gentlemen compose its principal officers: President, W. W. Martin; Vice President, A. H. English; Secretary, James E. Stevenson.

SEMPLES' GREAT DRY GOOD HOUSE IN ALLEGHENY CITY.—We tell a simple fact when we say that, William Semple, Nos. 180 and 182 Federal street, Allegheny city, offers unusual inducements in the wholesale and retail trade in Foreign and Domestic Dry Goods, Bonnets, Gloves, Hosiery, Trimmings, etc. This long established house has gained a reputation second to none other in this entire region of country. Mr. Semple has conducted his business on a scale of liberality with regard to his increasing customers that has resulted in the coinage of a familiar phrase in almost every house—"whoever buys at Semple's, will be sure to patronize him again." The secret of his success lies in a nutshell. Mr. Semple's rule, from which he never deviates, is to furnish the public at the very lowest cash price, with the best and choicest goods that can be procured in the market. The result is that everybody who deals with him is sure to get the full value of their money. This is the true principal in regard to trade. Yesterday, we visited, rather by accident, than otherwise, Mr. Semple's Dry Goods Establishment. As usual, we found it crowded with purchasers, living both here and abroad in the surrounding country. The shelves and counters were piled full of choice goods from which the busy throng were making their selections, and the army of clerks, messengers, cash boys, &c., impressed us with their patient and polite attentions to the customers, for, from such a varied assortment of styles and patterns, almost bewildering in extent, it is not often the case that the most practised purchaser can select at once. But during our protracted stay we saw no one leave who had not purchased, and we made up our mind that to be suited, we must go to Semple's. All this applies to Semple's wholesale department, where we found merchants from the adjoining country, making selections from his new stock. Mr. Semple recently returned from a tour East, where he purchased a heavy stock of goods for his wholesale and retail trade. This stock embraces everything in the Dry Goods line, from a row of pins to the costliest silks; an almost inconceivable array of new and fashionable prints, lawns, ginghams, poplin plaids, and dress goods of every description. Pure Irish Linen of the most superior quality, shirting, and sheeting in great variety, ticks, cloth goods, straw bonnets and hats for ladies and misses of all ages, spring and summer shawls, scarfs, towelling, table cloths, checks, nankeen, alapacas, alapaca lustres, Queen's cloths, delaines, balmorals, hosiery, handkerchiefs, collars, (beautiful styles,) flowers, trimmings, etc., etc. We cannot begin to enumerate all we saw, nor adequately convey an idea of the reasonable prices asked for these goods. We, therefore, advise the ladies to pay Mr. Semple an early visit, for we are satisfied that they will find at his place everything they require in his line—no matter what it may be. Country dealers, too, will find this house to be first class in all respects. Mr. Semple's customers embrace many of the leading merchants in this section of our State, Eastern Ohio, Western Virginia, etc., and this fact is, itself, a guarantee that new patrons may depend upon it for making good selections for their own establishments.

THE WONDER OF THE WORLD.—Wonders never cease. The most pleasant is the wonderful stock of rare and fragrant Segars, Chewing and Smoking Tobacco, Snuff, etc., to be found only at C. S. Herron's, No. 184 Wood street. Everything in the tobacco line will be found at this place.

WORLD MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY, OF NEW YORK, HAS SPECIAL FEATURES which are very attractive to persons desiring to insure their lives. Its mutual premiums are lower than the majority of the companies in the United States; its non-participation premiums are lower than any company in the world. Every one is invited to examine its plan of business, which will be given with pleasure by

When I applied to the Indian Herb Doctor, of 194 Liberty street, I could hardly walk a single block. I had the consumption. I have gained seven pounds of flesh in two weeks. My coughing and spitting are gone, and I am able to attend to my business.

The Doctor's office is No. 194 Liberty street.

A TIMELY WARNING.—It is especially important at this time, when the markets of the United States are flooded with the direst poisons, under the name of imported liquors, and when domestic compounds purporting to be medicinal, but not a whit less pernicious, are heralded to the world as "sovereign remedies," that the public should fully understand the facts. Be it known, then, that while all the diffusive stimulants called liquors are impure, and all the Tonics containing alcohol are manufactured with a fiery article containing amyl or fusel oil, a mortal poison, HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS contain none of these things, but are a combination of pure essence of Rye, with the pure juices of the most valuable stomachic, anti-billious, and aperient herbs and plants, and that as a safe and rapid remedy for Dyspepsia, and all its kindred complaints, this preparation stands before the world without a rival or competitor. Its sales to-day are equal to the combined sales of all the other tonics advertised in the United States, and the certificates which authenticate its usefulness are signed by individuals of the highest standing in every professional calling and walk of life. Beware of imitations and impostors.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

MONDAY EVENING, April 15, 1867.

The effects of the favorable change reported at the Eastern financial centers have not been felt on our local market, which continues to work nearly as close as it has done for the past five or six weeks. The transactions in local stocks have been much limited on this account. Those parties holding our leading securities have not attempted to realize upon them to any extent, and hence we have not many changes to note.

—The following statement shows the amount of Exchanges and Balances at the Pittsburgh Clearing House, during the past week:

—In relation to the recent monetary commotion in Richmond, a local journal remarks: The fears of a monetary panic in Richmond, reported yesterday, arose from the fact that during the recess of the Legislature certain officers of the banks of this city, which are the depositories of the public moneys, attempted to create the impression that the act of the Legislature providing for the payment of the interest on the public debt could not be executed, and that any movement upon the part of the State to withdraw the money deposited would precipitate a financial crash. The action of the dry goods firm of Claflin & Co., of New York, in levying upon the goods of Steenbock & Co., the largest dry goods house in Richmond, has created great excitement in the latter city. The Richmond papers say if this system is generally adopted by the North on creditors, it will inaugurate a fearful panic among the business men of the South.

PRODUCE AND GENERAL MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, MONDAY EVENING, April 15, 1867.

Our general markets to-day were active, for Monday. There is quite a cheerful feeling in the market, for a more active trade, for the spring season than has been generally anticipated among merchants. FLOUR—We have no change to note in our report of the flour market. There is quite a light stock on the market and it is firmly held at last quotations. We quote the following brands: Jenkins's Eureka, extra winter, $15 00; Jenkins's Lilly, choice, $14 75; Desplaine's and Sear's best, $14 25@14 50; McGregor and Kimbaly's choice, $14 25@14 50; Crosett's Crescent, $14 00, and Clipper, $15 75 ₩ bbl.

PITTSBURGH OIL TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, TUESDAY, April 16, 1867.

Business yesterday came to a stand still. There were but few purchasers on hand; buyers did not appear willing to pay seven cents for bulk; on the other hand sellers thought that figure was sufficiently low for all reasonable purposes. The river to Oil City being in fine navigable order the receipts were large, amounting yesterday to 22,530 barrels. A large portion of these receipts goes to fill previous contracts, leaving only a limited amount on hand for disposal. The sales of crude yesterday, only reached 1,400 barrels, as follows: 600 barrels free on cars, 11c. We note the following sales of bulk, on the spot: 300, 100@300 bbls do at 7c. Holders were not disposed to sell good gravities below that figure.

REFINED OIL—The market was devoid of activity. Buyers and sellers were wide apart in their views. The supply in the market was ample for all purposes. Dealers are evidently waiting for something to turn up. We omit the rates as they were altogether nominal for present or future delivery. Free oil was selling in a small way at 40@41c ₩ gallon.

TAR—We have learned of no sales for some time past.

LUBRICATING OIL—Was steady, but prices have undergone no change.

BENZOLE—Don't seem to be wanted. It can be purchased at a low figure.

NEW YORK.

There is a moderate inquiry for crude, says the Commercial List, of Saturday, but 40@47 gravity is generally held above the views of buyers; the sales since our last have been confined mostly to low gravity, which is easier. The sales are 800 bbls, 40@47 gravity, in bulk, at 10¾c; 4,000 do, 40@45 gravity, in bulk, part at 11½c and part at a lower figure; 200 do do, 12½c delivered to pkgs; 1,000 do do, for April, on private terms; and 1,000 do do, in bulk, for May, 12½c B. O. For Refined in bond there continues a steady demand, and the market has ruled firm, closing at 27½c for S. W., which is an advance of one-half of a cent on our last quotation; sales 200 bbls Prime L. S. to W. at 26c; 10,100 do S. W., 27@27½c; 2,000 do do, for April, 27½c S. O.; 2,000 do do, for May, 27½@28c B. O.; 10,000 gallons L. S. to W., in tin, for May, 33½c B. O.; 15,000 do S. W., in tin, for May, 35c B. O.; 1,000 bbls S. W., for June, 29c B. O., and 500 do S. W. for August, 31c B. O. Of Free, we note sales of 185 bbls L. S., 108 test, at 38½c; and 200 do Prime L. S. to W. 42c; 500 bbls Naptha, in bond, sold at 11½c. The receipts, since January 1st, were 263,622 bbls, against 279,801 bbls, same time last year. The exports, from New York, for the same time this year, were 6,464,128 gallons, and from other ports 4,461,148 gallons. Total 11,915,271 gallons, against 13,607,319 gallons, same time last year.

GOLD

Quiet. Loans were made flat to 1-64 premium.

GOVERNMENT SECURITIES

Opened firmer, but closed ⅛ lower on the '62 and '64 5-20s, but otherwise steady. Closing prices: Registered '81, 109@109¼; Coupons do, 109¼@109¾; 5-20s registered, '62, 103⅞@104; do Coupons, 109⅞@109⅞; Coupons, '65, 108⅞@108⅞; 10-40s registered, 97⅞@98; August 7-30s, 106@106⅛; June and July do, 105⅞@105⅞. The Government is still a free buyer of 7-30 notes, at the same time selling new 5-20 bonds. The Treasury disbursements are liberal, which adds to the increasing ease in money.

THE RAILWAY MARKET

Opened firmly, and prices were generally better. At the first open board the market was firm, but began to yield at the Stock Exchange, and was lower after call. There was a heavy feeling just previous to the one o'clock board, when the quotations current in the Long Room showed an average decline of about 1 per cent. from the highest point of the morning. The market was still lower at that board, except on New York Central, and heavy at the last open board, and generally lower. The downward tendency was assisted by short sales by bears. After call there was a slight advance in the Long Room.

CLOSING PRICES.

The following are the closing prices reported by Wm. Heath & Co: Gold, 134⅞@134⅞; Ohio certificates, 23⅞@24; Canton, 42@43⅞; Cumberland, 33@35; Quicksilver, 30; Mariposa, 7@7⅞; do preferred, 21@21⅞; Western Union Telegraph, 37⅞@37⅞; New York Central, 98⅞@98⅞; Erie, 55⅞@55⅞; Reading, 99@99⅞; Michigan Southern, 68⅞@68⅞; Rock Island, 86⅞@86⅞; Northwestern, 32⅞@32⅞; preferred, 59⅞@59⅞; Fort Wayne, 92⅞@92⅞; Pacific Mail, 123@123⅞; Atlantic Mail, [illegible].

The Stock Exchange has voted to remove all restrictions about the charges of brokerage in the Government department, which will tend to increase business in the public funds.

BORDER STATE BONDS

New York Cattle Market.

NEW YORK, April 15.—Beeves—Under continued light supply the market is firmer, and an advance of fully ½c easily established in all grades; in some instances an advance of ⅝@⅞c was obtained. In common grades the demand was active, and all the offerings were quickly sold. The quality of the cattle was fair, scarcely selling below 14⅞c; there were 10@17⅞c. Quotations—extra 18@18⅞c; first quality, 17⅞@18c; fair to good, 16@17c; common, 14⅞@15c.

Sheep and Lambs ruled firm throughout the week. Prime grades advanced ⅛@⅞c ₩ lb, but the market closed weak at the improvement. Common stock was not essentially changed. Quite a number of clipped sheep commanded 7⅞@9⅞c, occasionally as high as 9⅞c for extra. We quote unsheared at 8⅞@10c, the latter price for extra.

Hogs—With a continued liberal supply of inferior stock, hogs ruled dull and heavy, and holders were obliged to submit to a decline of fully ⅛c. Even at the concession trade was not very active. The demand from slaughterers was limited, in consequence of the fact that inferior offerings at present prices of slaughtered would scarcely be remunerative. About 27 car loads were on sale this morning, almost all of which sold at 7@7⅞c for fair to heavy prime corn fed, and 6⅞@7c for common and rough. Rye lower; the supply being better; sales of No. 1 at $1 65; holders ask $1 70 in most cases, but did not succeed in getting it to any extent. Barley unchanged and dull. Cotton dull with no demand and prices are nominal at 25@26c for Middling. Whisky dull at 26c in bond. Mess Pork dull and prices nominal. There was no demand; it could have been bought at $22 50. Bayard	Moore	Parkersburg
Ingomar	Kemple	Matamoras.
Ida Rees No. 2	Rees	Cincinnati.

THE RIVER AND MATTERS ALONG THE WHARF.—The weather clouded up and in the afternoon we had several showers. Trade on the wharf was moderately active. The Monongahela marks indicated scant nine feet; Allegheny nine feet five inches. At Oil City five feet six inches were reported. The following tow boats came in since our last: Grand Lake, Wild Cat, Greyhound, Mary Ann, Diamond and O. H. Ormsby. The coal departures were 365,000 bushels, principally for Louisville. Trade on the Monongahela is improving. The Ingomar did not get off until last evening, being detained. The Bayard left on time with a fine trip. The Parkersburg packet for this day is the steamer Leni Leoti. She leaves at noon. The favorite packet America is receiving for Memphis and New Orleans. She will have dispatch. The far famed Glendale takes her departure this day for St. Louis and the Missouri river. The punctual packet Lorena leaves this day without fail for Cairo and St. Louis. The Spray leaves this afternoon for Portsmouth and way points. The Columbia and Importer are announced for the Upper Mississippi. They all have dispatch. The Argosy will be found at the landing this morning. She will return to Cincinnati on Wednesday. The Ida Rees No. 2 left for Oil City with a fair trip. The telegraph announces five feet six inches water at Oil City. The Allegheny is in fine navigable order.

PHOTOGRAPHS OF THE RICHMOND AND THE GREAT REPUBLIC.—We have life-like pictures of these famous boats taken by the best instrument in the West, and invite the public to call and see them. They can look first on one and then on the other, and say which they like best.

We find the above in the Louisville Courier, and can only say that if the picture of the Richmond is no better resemblance than the one taken for the Great Republic, it is a sorry looking affair, and if the name was omitted, it would pass for any boat that was ever built, or intended to be constructed, provided the original was never seen. If that is the kind of work furnished by Messrs. Elrod & Bros., the sooner they go to work and learn photographing the better. We have no doubt that parties interested paid liberally for the picture of the Great Republic. They are welcome to all they can make by such miserable transactions. After the Messrs. Elrod & Bros. and the Courier reporter had written the apology, we intended to let the matter drop. They have themselves to thank for the subject being brought up.

THE Matamoras packet Ingomar left at 10 A. M. The trade between these ports is steadily increasing.

THE Belle Vernon arrived at St. Louis on Friday, with two hundred and fifty passengers, of various ages and sexes.

THE steamer Bayard, Captain Moore, left yesterday for Parkersburg, with a good trip of freight and passengers—as usual.

THE fine steamer Spray, Capt. Smith, leaves this day at 4 P. M., for Portsmouth and intermediate ports. To persons going that way a fine opportunity is offered.

THE Parkersburg packet for this day is the steamer Leni Leoti, Captain Hamilton. She leaves at noon. Passengers and shippers will bear this in mind.

WE are indebted to the officers of the Argosy for attentions to this office. She will return to Cincinnati on Wednesday—her regular trip.

THE side-wheel steamer Telegraph is offered for sale. She is in good order and will be sold at a bargain. For particulars see our advertising columns.

TOW-BOAT arrivals yesterday: Grand Lake, Wild Oats, Diamond, Greyhound, O. H. Ormsby and Mary Ann.

THE fine packet Columbia, Captain Reed, is announced for the Upper Mississippi. This boat is well found in every respect, and is in charge of careful and attentive officers.

THE fine packet Importer, Capt. John Noss, is announced for St. Louis, Galena, Dubuque and St. Paul. This boat has the best of accommodations and is in fine condition.

THE St. Louis and Quincy Packet Company is a fixed fact. The company has bought the Mollie McPike at the price of $26,500, and she starts to-day on her second trip under the new auspices.

RAFTING.—The Clarion river and Redbank creek have been high for several days, and hundreds of rafts have gone out of each stream. A large number were stoved on the Clarion, though a great deal of lumber has gone to market.

BOATS IN PORT YESTERDAY.—Ingomar, Argosy, America, Leni Leoti, Importer, Ezra Porter, Peerless, Forest City, Lorena, Minnie, Kate Putnam, Nora, Maggie Hays, Glenwood, R. C. Gray, Delaware, Armenia, Columbia.

RISE IN THE MISSOURI.—A dispatch from Lexington, dated the 12th, says: "The river continues to rise, and is now in excellent boating condition. The W. J. Lewis passed down yesterday, and the Montana this morning."

THE splendid passenger steamer Lorena, Captain S. Shuman, is announced for Cairo and St. Louis. This boat has very superior accommodations, and is in charge of careful and experienced officers. To persons going that way a fine opportunity is presented.

THE regular packet for Portsmouth to-day is the fine passenger steamer Spray, leaving at 3 o'clock, punctually, taking freight and passengers for all way points. Capt George Smith says that he furnishes the eggs for breakfast every morning from his stock of rebe chickens that he keeps on board.

THE new and splendid passenger steamer Glendale, J. M. Hare commander, is announced as an independent packet for St. Louis and the Missouri river. This boat has superior accommodations, and is in charge of careful and attentive officers. Our old friend Mellon does the honors in the office.

A GALENA paper says: The weather to-day is cloudy and cool. A large shipment of grain was made by the Savanna, which left port this afternoon en route for St. Louis. The river has risen a foot since last evening. There is but little being brought in, and market receipts are small.

THE river is again rising at St. Louis, with a fair prospect of plenty of water for some time to come. Freights were more active. There was a better feeling—a greater disposition to ship. We hope this will continue. The products of the Northwest are coming here increasing in quantity, and they must go somewhere. Boats will take it to various points in the South.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—The fine St. Louis packet, Lorena, Captain S. Shuman, is announced for Cairo and St. Louis. To persons going that way a fine opportunity is presented. This boat is noted for fine speed, superior accommodations and attentive officers. Our friend Wilkins, who does the honors of the office, will see that passengers are well cared for.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—The new and splendid passenger steamer Glendale, Captain J. M. Hare, leaves to-day for Cairo, St. Louis and Missouri river. This boat is one of the best of her class, and is in charge of careful and attentive officers. Passengers who have traveled with Captain Hare speak in flattering terms of the Glendale's appointments. Capt. Mellon is in the office.

THE far famed packet America, Capt. Thomas H. Golding, is fast filling up for Memphis and New Orleans. This boat is one of the best of her class afloat and in the charge of Captain Golding, has won a reputation equal to any boat that comes to this port. The Captain is one of nature's noblemen—don't know how to perform a wrong action, and is justly admired by all who have the pleasure of his acquaintance. It gives us pleasure to say a good word for Captain Golding.

WHAT the St. Louis Republican says:

THE GREAT REPUBLIC.—This much talked of and long expected steamer arrived last evening. From a casual glance we are fully satisfied that all descriptions hitherto given have utterly failed in doing justice to her size and magnificence. The cabin especially is by far the largest, finest and most gorgeously finished and furnished of any steamer that ever floated on the Mississippi or its tributaries. A want of space and time forbids our giving an extended description to-day but we would advise all to go and examine this craft.

THE America, a new and splendid boat building at Cincinnati, is nearly ready. We take the following in regard to her from the Cincinnati Gazette: The dimensions of the new Louisville mail boat America are as follows: Length of beam 315 feet, breadth of beam 44 feet, with 7 feet depth of hold. The main cabin, built after the manner of the United States, contains 200 separate state rooms, which in themselves are sufficient for 400 passengers. The officers' apartments are located immediately over the clerk's office in the forward part of the cabin, the other portion of the crew having state rooms over the pantry and barber shop. The engines are 30 inches in diameter and 10 foot stroke; the boilers are eight in number, and are made of Tennessee and Juniata blooms, selected with especial care. The water valves are 38 feet in diameter, with buckets 13½ feet in length. The hull was constructed at Morton & Startzman's ship yard; cabin by Messrs. Johnston, Morton & Co., and engines by Robert Moore & Sons.

THE GREAT REPUBLIC AT ST. LOUIS.—Saturday's Democrat says: Since her arrival on Thursday night, the Republic has lain, with the exception of a few minutes, at the Illinois bank, inaccessible to our citizens, unless by crossing the river. The delay on her trip to this port was caused, we learn, by the breaking of a portion of her machinery near Providence. This will soon and easily be rectified.

A good number of the boatmen took advantage of the pleasant weather and paid a visit to the Republic on the other side of the river. Every one who has visited the Republic is delighted with her. They cannot if they would, withhold their admiration.
